Farmers Market update

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Farmers Market Association went before the Board of Selectmen on Monday night to update the Board on its progress, and to ask that the Board allow the Farmers Market to be held at the old Swain School site on Middlesex Avenue, across from the Town Common.

The Association made its case with an opening statement that emphasized the benefits of having a market; pointing out that one of the most important keys to a successful market is a strong community-building role, and that a market is a place where the community can gather and connect with each other. Further, the Association pointed out that the Swain School site has all the things that go into a great location helping a market to be a success: a central and visible location, ample nearby parking, and - perhaps more than any other reason - it is a beautiful spot with green grass and large, shady trees.

Jack Cushing is retiring from the Town's employ, but stepping up his volunteerism

By DANIEL R. CHALMERS

WILMINGTON - The Town of Wilmington has a population of roughly 22,000, and it might not be unreasonable to believe that 20,000 of those residents, or thereabouts, know Jack Cushing.

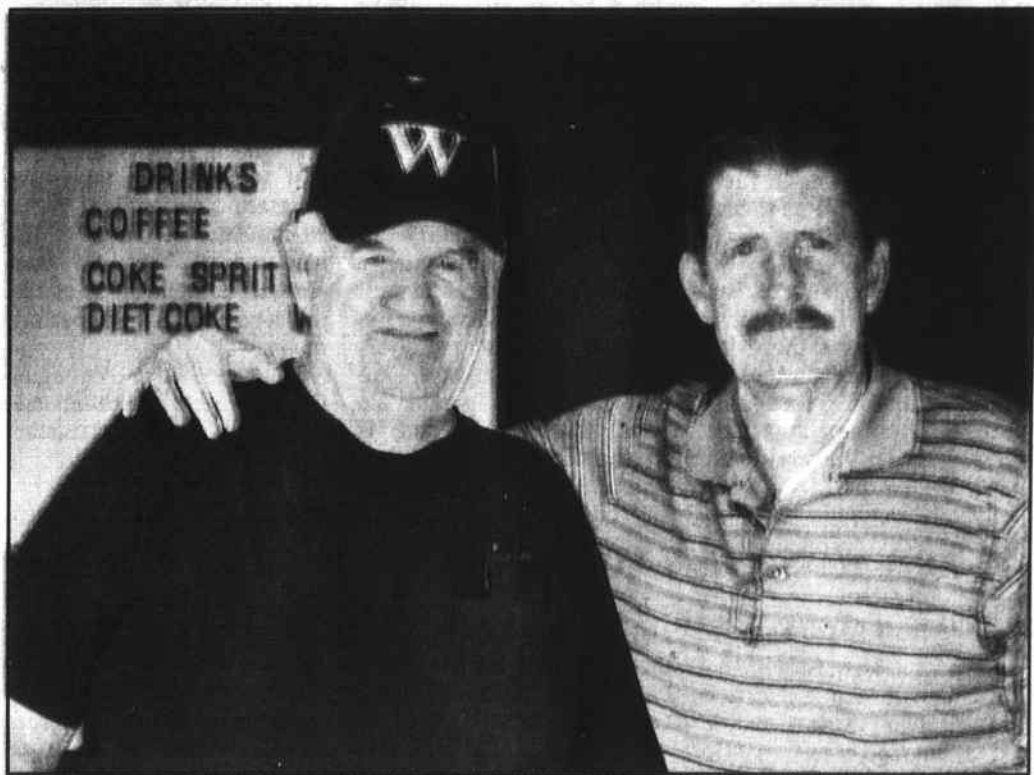

From working on the town's 250th anniversary celebrations, to being named a Wilmington "Good Guy," to establishing an annual WHS Alumni softball tournament, to the bocce tournaments and league held at his home courts, to spearheading the town's 275th anniversary, to his countless hours of community service with Wilmington Rotary Club, Interact Club, Fourth of July Committee, and Wilmington

Recreation Commission, the man gets around. He has recently retired from his position as Wilmington's Head Groundskeeper, which he held for the past six years. He's worked for the Department of Public Works for a total of 16 years.

A look back at Wilmington of yesteryear...

When it wasn't so quiet

By LARZ F. NEILSON

WILMINGTON - Grove Avenue at Silver Lake is a fairly quiet neighborhood these days. It runs alongside the lake, past a memorial park and the town beach, and continues on to Lake Street through a residential area. Some of the houses are old cottages that have been improved. Other cottages have been torn down and replaced with new houses squeezed onto the tiny house lots.

In the early part of the 20th Century, though, Grove Avenue was a busy place in the summer. Silver Lake was a resort popular with city people from Boston and its inner suburbs. Speculators bought old farms and subdivided them into small lots, a pattern that was replicated around many lakes and streams in the suburbs of Boston.

Families from the city would come to Silver Lake for the summer. With a now-defunct railroad station nearby, Daddy could commute to Boston while the family enjoyed a vacation in the country. The town fathers of that day (or at least one of them, who has been so quoted) regarded the summer camps at Silver Lake as a blessing. The city folk paid taxes on the camps, but the City of Boston had to pay for the education of the children.

A building was built to be the Silver Lake Library, sometime about 1900, when Silver Lake was the end of the streetcar run from Boston. The line later extended to Lowell. The library lasted only a few years, and was probably entirely a volunteer institution. Next to the library was MacFarlane's Spa, with an ice cream parlor and a small bathing house. In back were small cubicles one could rent for changing into a bathing costume of the day, with the ladies in black with skirts which daringly showed the knees - but they wore black stockings, so as to not be too daring. For the men, the full bathing suits went down to the knees.

Above those bathhouses was a huge sign, advertising Moxie, a soft drink. People may not have necessarily known where MacFarlane's was, but the Moxie sign lent

Shawsheen Tech Succeeding and Growing

By DANIEL R. CHALMERS

WILMINGTON - Superintendent of Shawsheen Valley Technical High School Charles Lyons recently provided the Board of Selectmen with an update of the school's academic progress, as well as informing the board of the status of the addition of the proposed Health/Life Sciences Center.

He began by noting that the town's assessment per pupil has decreased from FY09 through FY11. The expenditures per pupil for the Tech has increased only 14.72% over the last four years, which is substantially lower than Wilmington, at 25.24%, as well as surrounding towns. Both Wilmington and Shawsheen Tech are very close to the state average of net school spending as compared to foundation budgets for FY10.

Lyons pointed to the school's current attendance rate of 96.4% and drop out rate of 0.5% as success indicators. The state average drop out rate is 2.9%, Lyons said. The school's attendance rate has been above 95% for the past five years. Lyons said that the Tech could reasonably boast being "among the highest attendance in the state."

He added that the state average for graduation in four years among special education students is 60%. He said that Shawsheen Tech, however, currently stands at 96%. He noted that approximately 26% of students attending the Tech are special education students.

In 2009, Shawsheen Tech's MCAS English Language Arts (ELA) performance also improved, with an increase in those scoring advanced, and with a higher total of students in either the advanced or proficient categories. Scores in advanced and proficient also increased in mathematics MCAS as well. In 2009, Shawsheen Tech outperformed all other Massachusetts vocational-technical high schools in ELA, mathematics, and science tests, Lyons said.

Lyons then proceeded to brief the selectmen on the latest progress with regard to the new wing at the school.

The new Life Sciences Center will incorporate health technology students, dental technician students, lab science technicians, and a biotechnology program. The architectural firm of Knight, Bagge and Anderson has been hired for the project. The total project cost is estimated to come in at $4,687,847.

Lyons noted the decline in career opportunities within the diesel field, a program that will be closed to accommodate the new center. He said that about 50% of car dealerships in the country had closed, and that there are far fewer service stations in existence than in years past, thus limiting openings for those entering the workforce in the diesel field.

Additionally, Lyons noted data that indicated 24.5% of the jobs listed on the Massachusetts High-Demand Occupations report involved high levels of health science instruction. The Tech's diesel equipment will be sold through public bids.

Lyons added that the 12,000 square feet of educational space that is currently underutilized would be revitalized, and the project would add an additional 200,000 square feet. He noted that the existing area is presently insufficient to meet the demands for health and life sciences programs, which are critical for careers in the 21st Century. The existing shop enrolls about 25 students, whereas the proposed renovations and addition would accommodate more than 115 students. The Life Sciences Center would feature an "office-type atmosphere," Lyons said, and would be available at night for a tuition-based LPN program or other endeavors.

Lyons added that the design approach would also investigate taking advantage of green materials and energy efficient light fixtures, as well as low volume plumbing fixtures. A preliminary analysis for soil contamination indicated no erosion, he said. He stated that the building is structurally sound. It was built in 1967. Lyons said that the "builders did a marvelous job."

About 56% of the project has been approved for funding by the Massachusetts School Building Authority. Lyons said that the "finances are in order." Lyons thanked the selectmen for their assistance throughout the process thus far. "We appreciate the support that you gave us," he said.

Selectman Michael Newhouse noted that the proposed renovations were based on research, rather than simple conjecture, and called the plan "beneficial."

Selectman Raymond Lepore said that Lyons has been doing an "outstanding job through the years," and added that the center would be "giving the kids a great future" for career opportunities and called it "a wise choice."

"All hats off," he said. Selectman Michael Champoux said that Shawsheen Tech is an asset that is sometimes taken for granted, and called it "a tremendous resource." He also added that he was pleased about hearing of the improved MCAS performance.

Chairman Louis Cimaglia thanked Lyons and commended him for a "great presentation."

Crash course

Irate student allegedly targeted Salter School

TEWKSBURY - A car plowed through a window at the Salter School, located at 515 Woburn Street in Tewksbury, Monday morning, plunging nearly 100 feet into the interior of the building. Reports indicate an irate student rammed through a window following an argument.

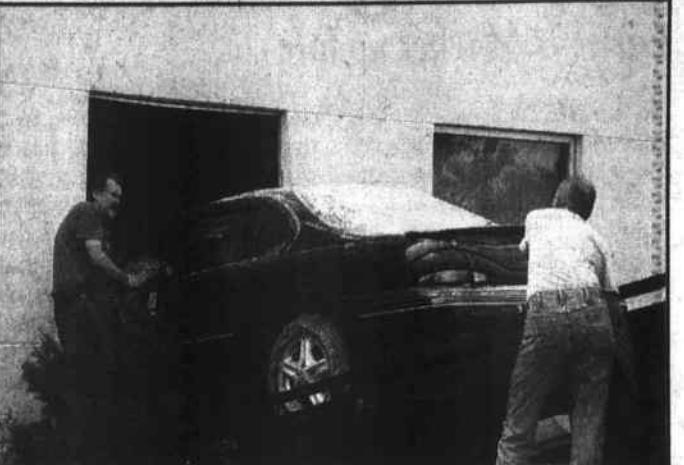

Kelsey Pickett, 20, of 42 Coachmans Lane, Haverhill, rammed her 1996 Pontiac Bonneville through a ground level window at 9:53 a.m. The driver allegedly took off on foot, but police shortly caught up with her behind the building. No injuries were reported, though the driver was taken to the hospital by ambulance for evaluation.

"It's apparent that the car had some speed and it was going at a good pace when it went through," Deputy Police Chief John Voto told reporters.

Pickett was not arrested but will be charged with reckless operation of a motor vehicle, leaving the scene of an accident with property damage, wanton destruction of property over $250, and assault with a dangerous weapon (vehicle). Pickett will receive those charges via summons. Two others were taken to the hospital, one a pregnant woman. Both were waiting outside in the heat before being allowed back in the building and not sent as a direct result of the crash. Media reports indicate that Pickett was asked to leave the school grounds following an argument on the property that morning. It is not clear what the argument was about. Multiple calls to the Salter School were not returned.

Penny's Towing was called to extract the Salter School student's Pontiac from deep within the building. (photo by Maureen Lamoureux-www.shootingstarspix.com)

its name to Moxie Beach.

Mr. MacFarlane had a fine summertime business, selling ice cream, sodas and snacks. The customers sat on the porch in old-fashioned wire-backed chairs, at marble-topped tables.

The Silver Lake library later became the headquarters for the Silver Lake Men's Club, an active organization for young men. Among other things, they ran a country fair every Labor Day weekend.

The country fair was a real attraction for the community. There would be swimming races and canoe tilting contests on the lake, just outside MacFarlane's Spa. In a big field on Cottage Street, there would be a carnival, with games of chance and a merry-go-round, operated by Elmer Southmayd.

The merry-go-round was run by a steam engine, which, of course, was powered by a steam boiler. Mr. Southmayd was the major-domo of that steam boiler. When the time came to start or stop the merry-go-round, he would shift levers and do other things that were all quite mysterious to the young people taking a ride. The rides cost a nickel, which was a big sum then and most children were lucky to get two three-minute rides.

The Silver Lake Men's Club eventually folded, and about 1945, the building passed into private hands, to become an apartment house.

West of MacFarlane's place, a barber named Charlie Wiggins built a two-story store. He later sold it to Ralph Howe, who ran a grocery store.

Charlie was a wonder to the people of Silver Lake. He had lost both legs in an accident and yet he was able to drive a car. That was, of course, in the days when there were only about 100,000 automobiles in Massachusetts, so a person who had a car was in himself a little prominent — but a man who had no legs driving a car was nothing short of amazing.

Actually, he had one artificial leg, on the right, and he got along very well on that, with the aid of crutches.

Charlie drove a Buick, and he did so expertly. He had the brake pedal fixed up with a simple extension, so that when he depressed the brake, it also depressed the clutch, a very necessary thing in those days before automatic transmissions. He could, with one motion, step on the brake, or step on both the brake and the clutch.

Charlie was beloved by the kids in the neighborhood. He never failed to pick up a child walking to or from school or elsewhere along the side of the road. That alone was enough to make him popular.

But then, to see the clutch pedal go down when Charlie put his artificial leg on the brake pedal. It was enough to make those rides memorable.

Next to Howe's store was Smith's bakery, operated by Alfred Smith. The smell of fresh bread was pleasing to the many people who used to take the train at the Silver Lake station on the Boston and Maine Railroad. Every weekday morning, just after 8:00 a.m., about 65 people would cross the tracks and await the arrival of the 8:11. The train was known as the Nashua Express.

There were only two stops between Nashua and Boston, Lowell and Silver Lake. The train would cover the 17 miles to Boston in just 19 minutes.

Get on the train at 8:11 and you could be in your office in Boston by 9:00 a.m.

They could sniff the bread on their way to work, and on their way home, they would stop and buy some of that bread.

Some of the buildings between Grove Avenue and the lake stood until the 1970s, when the town took them by eminent domain and demolished them. There are post cards that show the buildings in their heyday.

On the corner of Wilde Avenue, opposite the Union Ice House, stood the Jackson Club, owned by some young men from Charlestown. It had quite a reputation, and there are some stories to tell.

About 1912, Herbert Barrows was chairman of the Board of Selectmen, and Walter Hill was chief of police. They were notified that a riot was going on at the Jackson Club. Herb got into his buggy and got there as soon as he could.

Chief Hill was a gentleman. He would always avoid a fight.

Herb Barrows was a gentleman, too, but he never ducked a fight. He stormed into the Jackson Club and grabbed the first man he came to by the coat collar. Herb dragged the young man to Silver Lake and threw him in the water.

"Oh, he'll drown!" wailed the chief.

"Let the bd drown!" roared Herb as he went back into the Jackson Club for another member. But there was nobody there. They had all dashed out the back door into the swamp.

Another story about the Jackson Club concerns the town's new streetlights. Someone in the club owned a Model T Ford, which was a handy vehicle to drive in those days. They would drive around in the Model T in the evening and shoot streetlights.

The rule of the game was that the car had to be going about 45 miles per hour when the trigger was pulled. The gun used a .22 bullet. In a Model T, 45 miles an hour was about full speed.

If the shooter missed, the driver would stop and back up to, say 100 yards on the other side of the light. He would start up again and be going full speed as the car passed beneath the streetlight.

There is no record of how the members kept score of their hits and misses or how the Reading Municipal Light Dept. kept track of the hits and misses, either.

It's Your Money

THINGS TO KNOW

Haven't got your tax refund yet? Go to www.irs.gov and click on "Where's my refund?" Enter your Social Security number, filing status and the amount expected. The site will confirm the receipt of your return and an estimate of when your refund will come.

What's better than a refund? More money all year. Instead of giving Uncle Sam an interest-free loan, file a new W-4 and get more cash every week.

The Social Security wage base is expected to stay at $106,800 for 2011, but the wage base and benefits are expected to rise later.

If you make mortgage payments on a home owned by your ex, and you have no ownership interest, the payments can be deducted as alimony. If you're co-owners, then only half is deductible.

Seniors who convert their IRAs to Roths may see their Medicare premiums rise, because of the monthly surcharge - but income and fees will drop later, because Roth distributions are tax-free.

Letters to the editor

Norm Boudreau was a friend of mine

Norm Boudreau was a true friend of all of the people that he served during his decades of dedicated government service. He was recently reassigned to a better place after completing his mission here on planet earth. His loss is extremely painful to all that he left behind. We will meet again.

My heart goes out to his entire family. He was so proud of them. Norm tried not to boast about his family; however, his pride always over powered his humble nature.

Our friendship dates back more than four decades. From that day forward we have remained loyal friends. The friendship was based on the trust of each other. Confidential conversations remained confidential. I learned early in life that Norm was a great ally but a dangerous opponent. He was passionate with his beliefs and willing to fight for them.

Jay Kelley had it right when he described Norm Boudreau as being extremely smart and hard working. When troubleshooting any problem Norm always found it difficult to focus on anything else. When he knew that he was right he seldom wavered. He remained a gentlemen and was always considerate of his opponents.

During my 45 year Tewksbury history I was privileged to know a small group of people that always place community above politics. Norm was one of the four. They are dedicated to Tewksbury and traditionally convert their ideas into actions that benefit all of us. They led Tewksbury through some very dark days.

Norm was loyal to me and to the town that he loved. One day many years ago I complained to Norm about my home assessment, he was town assessor at the time. I explained to him that I felt that I was being taxed unfairly, every dollar in those days was so important. Single paycheck families were common, and so were rough times. Norm understood hardships as well. He immediately paid me a courtesy call, and carefully listened to my grievance. No doubt I was also hoping that our friendship would help influence his decision. He listened carefully and then left me anxiously waiting for his response. Finally, he unfolded my dilemma. His response both pleased and surprised me as he explained why I would not be eligible for a tax rebate. I knew Norm was just being Norm and I also knew that had my claim been legitimate Norm would have granted my rebate without delay. Norm did the right thing and I could therefore assume he did the right thing with everyone else. I didn't want a favor I only wanted justice and Norm delivered.

On Election Day we voted in different Primaries, however, even though we belonged to different Parties we seldom if ever disagreed on an issue. The agenda was always greater than our own party.

Many of our long winded discussions took place at Market Basket; he always explained the issues of the day to me without looking at his watch. It was important to him that I understood. Norm followed town politics much closer than I did.

Another reason I had so much trust in Norm Boudreau was because I knew that he placed family first with a deep untiring love for the town that he helped to shape.

Yes, Norman O. Boudreau will be missed. I am proud to call Norm my friend and grateful that our memories will last forever. He is in good hands, may he rest in Peace.

A vote for Finegold

Dear Editor
It's very gratifying to see the interest and activity being generated by the election to be held to fill the State Senate seat currently being held by Sue Tucker, who is retiring, which is comprised of Andover, Dracut, Lawrence and Tewksbury.

I believe that during the past few months Barry Finegold's campaign has proven him to be the best candidate among a group of capable contenders for this important office.

This is not surprising to me and the citizens in Tewksbury, Andover and Lawrence currently served by Representative Finegold. Barry has done an excellent job serving all area residents. Most importantly, Barry Finegold is a leader and a hard worker who delves into the issues, listens to his constituents and works with others to get results.

Respectfully,
Warren R. Carey
Tewksbury

P.S. Thanks to Barry, Rep. James Miceli and Sen. Sue Tucker for their work on the legislation involving the old Tewksbury police station.

Senior year flew by - so many special events, so many memories. Before you move on to your next big step, don't miss out on this great opportunity to preserve your Senior Year at WHS.

While you were having fun at the Senior events, WCTV was there videoring and making a record of your three major activities: Senior Promenade, Awards Night and Graduation. If you want a long-lasting memory of the WHS Class of 2010 Senior year, purchase the three DVD set of videos.

WCTV has just begun to make the DVD sets. Each DVD has special graphics on it and it is set in a unique 2010 WHS case. Due to the time it took to video, edit each event and create the DVDs and their special containers, WCTV will make them all at once and only once. Therefore, August 16 is the final day to order your DVDs. Don't miss out.

This is a memento you will treasure more and more each year. At first, the events are so fresh in your memory that your parents are the ones who will love the videos the most. As the years pass, you can't quite picture what graduation was like, or what your former crush looked like. At my daughter's fifteenth reunion, they played the graduation and promenade video on a loop. Everyone couldn't believe their hairdos and the clothing. It was great fun and great memories that could not be recalled by memory alone.

If you want to buy a piece of your past, order before August 1st. You can order by bringing your check or money to:

WCTV
10 Waltham St.

Wilmington, or mail your check to WCTV.

The price of the videos are: $15 each for Senior Promenade or Awards Night $25 for both Senior Promenade and Awards Night $40 for Graduation $59.99 for all three events.

Order your copy of these priceless memories today! If you want to know more about WCTV or any of our productions, feel free to stop by at our new location or call us at 978-657-4066. We look forward to hearing from you soon.

Letters to the editor

Tewksbury Hospital leadership

Dear Editor,

It is likely that anyone who lives within a 20 mile radius of Tewksbury knows that Tewksbury Hospital is a prominent facility in the heart of that town. When viewed in passing from the street, it displays gorgeous architecture and sweeping landscapes. But behind the stone walls and pillared entrance is a campus that is busy accomplishing great things under the leadership of a remarkable CEO, Sandra Akers.

I know this because it was recently my good fortune to have the opportunity to communicate personally with her; an experience that I can say has restored my faith in effective leadership of distinguished institutions. It seems that today we hear more about the CEOs and leaders who are selfish, corrupt and unjust and less about those who are quietly accomplishing great things for the facilities and people that they have been appointed to lead. My meeting with Ms. Akers came about in a most unlikely way...

I have an extreme aversion to litter. Always have. It is inconceivable to me that a person thinks that it is acceptable to throw their trash on the grounds of public areas and private lawns instead of using the endless options available for proper disposal. My husband and I have lived for many years in Tewksbury and run almost daily on a route that takes us past Tewksbury Hospital. In January we began to see a significant increase in the amount of smoking related trash collecting on the side of East Street across from the entrance to Tewksbury Hospital. We knew that a Tobacco Free Campus Policy had been implemented at the hospital in December and suspected that was likely the reason for the growing trash problem.

I wrote a letter to Sandra Akers. In it, I acknowledged her notable achievement of implementing a policy that certainly would contribute to a healthier environment for the employees and residents of Tewksbury Hospital. I went on to share with her my observation that the impact of the new policy appeared to be having on the community streets surrounding the hospital, since smokers were now required to use non-state property areas to smoke. In less than a week I received a personal response from Ms. Akers. She thanked me for my letter. She said that she appreciated my observations, was grateful for the feedback and concurred that Tewksbury Hospital indeed has a responsibility to control the impact that the policy has on the town and the hospital's neighbors. She committed to communicating the issue to campus security and policy committees, promised follow-up (which she did in a subsequent letter) and invited me and my husband to visit her at Tewksbury Hospital. A CEO, actually responding with professionalism, gratitude and solutions...how refreshing!

Sandra Akers is as remarkable and personable in person as she is in her letters and our meeting was entertaining, enlightening and unrushed. We learned details about the impressive campus-wide effort that has been put into the implementation of the Tobacco Free Campus Policy. We learned about the dedicated supervisors and employees who are committed to making the policy a success and have made significant effort to address the litter issue that I raised. We also learned how Ms. Akers has guided a devoted staff to accomplish countless other great things on a campus that is committed to health care and rehabilitation.

Tewksbury Hospital is fortunate to have Sandra Akers at the helm. She possesses a unique combination of command and understanding, with the ability to see many sides of a situation, move forward with change and respect her employees, residents and the community in which the hospital resides. For this Tewksbury resident, I left that meeting with CEO Sandra Akers feeling that I had been respected and heard, confident that Tewksbury Hospital, on that sweeping campus behind the stone walls and pillared entrance, will continue to thrive under her leadership and the efforts of a dedicated staff.

A vote for Finegold

To the voters of Tewksbury,
As you evaluate the candidates in the upcoming September 14th elections, I encourage you to thoughtfully consider Barry Finegold. As our State Representative, Barry has represented Tewksbury in matters of open space, school funding, local housing partnership, and economic and environmental development.

In seeking to fill the position of State Senator as our friend Susan Tucker retires, Barry creates a continuum of familiarity with the constituent base and its issues. As a resident of the Merrimack Valley, father, and local businessperson, Barry understands the importance of key issues in our area.

Barry is currently the Chairman of the Committee on Telecommunication, Utilities and Energy and understands the need to make our communities more environmentally aware. He is an advocate of alternative energy and wants his district to create a cleaner and safer future for its residents. As a specific point, Barry is advocating for greater oversight in the cleanup of the Sutton Brook disposal area in South Tewksbury, and he is encouraging a dialog between residents, the town, and the Environmental Protection Agency. He wants the cleanup to be as quick and painless as possible, and will push to hold the EPA accountable for what it has promised.

As State Senator, Barry would continue to watch over Tewksbury and seek to expand the opportunities for our area. Remember to vote on September 14th, and keep an eye to local events where you can meet Barry and his staff personally.

Proud to wear 'Wilmington'

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the Wilmington High School Baseball Program, please allow me the opportunity to thank several businesses and organizations who with their financial support played an instrumental part of our successful season this past spring. With their support and that of the "Friends of WHS Baseball's RBI Club," we were able to purchase new bats, helmets, hats, game shirts, baseball socks, practice bases for our sub-varsity programs and other training equipment.

David Dello Russo and the Dello Russo Funeral Home, Wilmington Sons of Italy, Shea Concrete Products, Extra Innings of Tewksbury, First Class Auto School, Custom Stitch, New England Sports Partners, Academy of Traditional Karate, White's Physical Therapy, Nichols Funeral Home, Janis Research Company, Wilmington Trophy, and Tectron Defense Systems.

I would also like to thank the following individuals and families who also contributed to the "RBI Club": State Representative Jim Miceli, Jim and Dianne Buck, Lentini Family, Meuse Family, Atty Michael Pinelli, Michele Cairra Nortonen, Sharon Cairra, Ciampa Family, Mello Family, Laura Cairra, Kelly Family, Skinner Family, Favuzza Family, Kevin and Cheryl Cairra, Greg Potchner and Sue Long.

We, the coaches and student athletes of the WHS baseball Program are so fortunate to be able to live, work, attend school and represent such a great and supportive community on the baseball field. We are proud to wear "Wilmington" across our chest when traveling around the Cape Ann League and we hope that we convey that message to you when you watch our performance on the field. Once again, thank you for your generosity and support of our program; and we hope to see you next spring at the ball park.

Sincerely,
Aldo Cairra, Jr.

Find some humor at The Book Store Next Door

WILMINGTON - The Book Store Next Door, open on Wednesdays (10 a.m. - 7 p.m.) and Saturdays (10 a.m. - 4 p.m.), is Wilmington's home for used books. Conveniently located next to the Wilmington Memorial Library (183 Middlesex Avenue), the store always has what you're looking for.

Why did the chicken cross the road? To get to the Book Store Next Door! Well, if your jokes are as bad as this one, pick up some new material from the humor section in the Non-Fiction Room. Nothing extraordinary happening in your life? Browse the biography section to read about the exciting lives of others. Know someone who is getting married or starting a family? Take a look at the women and parenting sections.

You'll always find a good book. The store has more than 5,000 titles to choose from, with hundreds added weekly. In addition to the Fiction Room, Non-Fiction Room, and Children's Room, the store now features a Media Room, filled with Books-on-CD, Books-on-Tape, CD's, computer games, DVD's, and videos.

You'll always help a good cause. Every penny raised at the store benefits the Wilmington Memorial Library. The store, run entirely by volunteers, is the Friends of the Wilmington Memorial Library's #1 fundraiser.

You'll always get a good deal. All books for adults are priced $2 or less: 50 cents for mass market paperbacks, $1 for trade paperbacks, and $2 for hardcovers. All books for children are priced $1 or less: 50 cents for paperbacks and $1 for hardcovers.

You'll always find a great place to recycle your gently used books. Donations may be dropped off when the store is open. Cashiers can give customers a receipt confirming the number of books donated. Customers must calculate the value of their donations for a tax deduction.

Please contact Manager Robert Hayes (folwilmington@yahoo.com, 978-604-8933) for volunteer inquiries, donation pick-ups, and further information.

Sponsorships available

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - For five years serious runners from across the region have joined locals in a road race through town that builds community spirit while raising money for scholarships. This year it comes under new management by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce and promises a great experience for anyone that wants to get involved.

This year marks the first that the Chamber of Commerce presents Wilmington's 6th Annual Half Marathon and 5K Run or Walk on Sunday, September 26, 2010. While it may seem like a long way off, here in mid-July, now is a great time to start training for the big day. And with two races, there is something for everyone.

The Chamber took over the race this year. Formerly known as the Happy Birthday Road Race organized by Tom Pazyra, which began by celebrating Wilmington's 275th anniversary, the race successfully raised funds for student scholarships and charity. Typically 200 to 300 people enter the event.

Chamber Executive Director, Nancy Vallee, sees the road race as a good match for the organization's mission.

"The Chamber of Commerce not only supports local businesses but is also dedicated to enhancing the quality of life within our community by supporting civic and social welfare," said Vallee.

The Chamber recently went through a lean period and faltered from that mission. Vallee, along with the current board, have worked to revive the Chamber and sought out opportunities to give back.

"When we learned about the road race we jumped on board," said Vallee, who has dedicated herself to bringing off the event without a hitch, organizing it in just a fraction of the typical eight months needed.

Racers will gather for registration at 10 Waltham Street, near the new location of WCTV. The half marathon covers 13.1 miles and the 5K run/walk is just 3.1 miles. The race will begin at 10 a.m. with a shotgun start.

The registration fee for the half marathon is just $25 for pre-registration and $30 on race day. For those interested in the 5K, the fee is $20 for pre-registration, $25 on race day. Runners/Walkers age 18 and under have $10 registration fees and groups of ten or more enjoy $5 discounts on registrations fees.

Groups are already signing up with one honoring the memory of Kelly Murray, a young mother that passed away unexpectedly last month, by establishing a scholarship fund from monies raised by the group and another from a company called Security Innovation, working to raise money for St. Jude's Children's Hospital.

The race is feature rich as well. Vallee has secured the services of a professional timing company, will hand out free race t-shirts and numbers, water stops, Medals awarded to top 1/2 marathon and 5K winners. Each 5K walker will receive ribbon. Family Fun, a DJ hotdogs, ice cream, face painting, balloon animals, and henna tattoos. All the proceeds will benefit scholarships for the Wilmington High School students.

For more information on registration please contact Vallee at the Chamber at 978-657-7211 or through the Chamber's website at www.wilmingtonbusiness.com.

Letters to the editor

No access to South Street

(Editor's note: the following letter was sent to Steve Sadwick, Tewksbury's Director of Community Development, and is being published here at the request of the author.)

Dear Mr. Sadwick, I am writing to voice my strong opposition to the I-93 Interchange Tri-Town Form Based Code Proposal. I am sure that the loudest and most numerous voices will be anxious of the traffic flow that will impede South Street, which is a real concern. I cannot understand how the Town Officials in Tewksbury can promise us that traffic will not be affected. No matter what is going into these proposed districts (5, 6, 3, and 7) it will negatively affect the traffic burden on South Street, as District 3 - the "Corporate Campus / Employment and Research Facility" (although technically located in Andover) has the proposal written with access to South Street, Districts 5 (Employment Park, Tewksbury), District 6 (Mixed Use / Commercial, Tewksbury) and District 7 (another Employment Park in Wilmington) all show proposed access to South Street, Tewksbury MA. This is of real and serious concern, especially with the all of the children that reside and play around here. We do not even have sidewalks.

Another serious concern is the property that is intended to be developed. According to the Form Based Code proposal, these proposed districts either are on or directly affect the private property in this area. I do not believe that there is one person in this area that purchased their home with the intent of looking outside at mega-structures. Our home's values will be destroyed compared to the purchase prices, most of our mortgages will soon be worth more than our homes.

I am sure that the committee overseeing this project is being sold a very sweet looking dessert. "Look at the income the Town will generate from these Districts (5 & 7)," "Don't worry, we won't let there be access to South Street, the traffic there won't be affected". Please look at the "West Side (Tewksbury) Analysis" (<http://andoverma.gov/planning/i93/task.pdf>), which states (specifically on page 16) that although "commercial / retail development requires highway access-only based on overlay zoning... FHWA requires local access in order to approve connection". Also, this report, written by the MassDOT and the Massachusetts Executive Office of Housing and Economic Development reports on the possibility of 40B subsidized housing (368 of them! - how does this affect our already in-distress school system?), a 600,000 square foot retail (would that be another way to say "mall"?), a 112,500 square foot office space, a 37,500 square foot restaurant, an 11-screen movie theatre, 250 apartments, 140-unit hotel, a 225-unit hotel, and a 750,000 square foot light-industrial complex.

I don't believe I need to point out that some of the proposals noted above will increase the crime rate in this town, affect the schooling system, affect (obviously) the neighborhoods that we choose to move into, and affect police / fire / EMT scheduling. I can go on and on, but I believe the point is made. I understand that we do not live in some idealistic world where nothing goes wrong in this town, but I also see that we are still a community. Although we may differ on opinions of how / if things will affect negatively or positively if at all, we can all come together for the benefit of each other. To place this burden of decision directly onto our Town Officials is not only unfair to the Town Officials, but even more unfair to the residents of this Town who it will directly affect.

I believe that a potentially greater good can be made for this town, economically, aesthetically and in keeping with the small town feel that most people either stay in this Town or move to this Town for, by imposing fines for non-uptake of retail places already standing along Main Street, and even maybe some type of community donation when they are left vacant for "x" number of months. If Main Street was thriving I could possibly begin to see the need to potentially add more retail areas. It's not. I don't.

I hope you take this letter with the heavy weight of which it is intended. I hope every letter, written or e-mailed, that affects the residents in my community is also read and re-read with the weight that the writer is bearing when composing it. I hope these letters are shared among the entire committee whose opinions may change the face; not only of this town, but of this neighborhood; and that everyone on the committee reads them with the same driving force that has gotten us to write them.

My sincerest thanks for the time you have taken to accept these letters and truly listen to everyone.

Winds of change

Dear Editor, Funny things often happen during an election year. Incumbent legislators who we thought we knew start changing their positions on such items as taxes, casinos and environmental issues, especially during a difficult economic climate. We have heard all the talk about restoring our economy, cutting costs and putting people back to work, but we have yet to see a real plan put into action.

The other day, the House passed (101 to 52) Senate Bill No. 2260 - An Act Relative to Comprehensive Siting Reform for Land Based Wind Projects. The bill clearly defines a process of permitting land based windmills and giving local control to cities and towns in the permitting process with statutory appeals rights, such as those created in the Wetlands Protection Act. What could be a better way to get our economy back on track than to define a process to allow projects that will not only provide clean reliable energy, but will also create jobs and an new industry for Massachusetts that is friendly to the environment and will last for years to come. That is why I support this legislation. It is right for Massachusetts and its time we look to alternate sources of energy in light of what we have seen from the environmental disaster caused by the oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico.

In this election cycle there are many out there who hastily change their positions to try to show the voters that they are the "independent" vote, supporting the voice of the taxpayers. To me it seems our legislators shift their stances on issues based on the "winds of change" appealing to the wants and needs of those that bend their ears which is political as usual at best. The people of Massachusetts have suffered too long under the political will of the "old boy" network that has put politics and personal gain in front of the needs of the voters. It is time we bring a Real Voice and Democracy back to Beacon Hill. It is time we elect Legislators who will represent the People and not themselves. It is time for a real change in Massachusetts. Let's reset our clocks and change the face of politics. It all started in Massachusetts on Jan 19th with the "vote heard around the world." This November 2nd will be our chance to cast a revolutionary vote bringing a new and balanced voice to Beacon Hill.

Mario Marchese

Wilmington - Tewksbury

Marchese resigns from Conservation Commission

To the Residents of the Town of Wilmington:

It is with deep regret that I must resign my position on the Conservation Commission for the Town of Wilmington. I have served on this commission since my first appointment by our Town Manager in 2004. I have been a highly active and enthusiastic member of the Commission because I take seriously the trust placed in my ability to serve the Town and the residents of Wilmington.

At the July 19th Board of Selectmen meeting George Lingenfelter raised the issue that I was in violation of Chapter 592, Section 5 of the Town of Wilmington By-laws. The by-law states that no member of the Board of Selectmen, School Committee or Finance Committee may serve, either elected or appointed, to any other town office. While Mr. Lingenfelter did not identify me by name, I am the only individual that currently serves on both The Wilmington School Committee and The Wilmington Conservation Commission. In recognition of this issue I feel it is appropriate for me to resign from my position on The Wilmington Conservation Commission. I have found my work on the Conservation Commission to be challenging and rewarding and I truly loved my service in this capacity. I encourage any individual to serve on any town board or commission, rather than being a bystander while important business is considered by our Town government.

Volunteerism is at the core of a community's strength and should not be frowned upon by anyone due to personal or political motives. I have served the Town of Wilmington, as others have done on various boards and commissions, giving up countless hours of my personal time not for any monetary return, but solely because of my love and passion for our Town.

I would like to thank the Town Manager for my appointment to the Conservation Commission. I did not realize that my service in these two positions was in conflict with the town by-laws. Please accept my apology for this oversight. I strongly encourage any motivated individual to contact Town Hall and identify themselves to the Town Manager for the purpose of serving on this vital Town Commission.

Sincerely,
Mario Marchese
Wilmington

Elect Barry Finegold

Dear Editor, In November a new State Senator will be elected to serve the city of Lawrence, and the towns of Andover, Dracut and Tewksbury. It is crucial that the individual who is elected have a clear understanding of the many serious issues facing this district.

Barry Finegold has already demonstrated through his current role as an elected member of the House of Representatives his deep interest and unwavering commitment to the towns he now represents.

As a former Selectmen in the town of Tewksbury I can attest to the need for developing an active and regular contact with the town's State Representative and Senator. Their support and recommendations are often the gateway to helping resolve critical issues.

Barry Finegold in his current position has always been a positive link to our state government. It is my belief he will continue, as our next State Senator, to be a strong voice for accountability and fiscal restraint along with helping to ease the financial burdens placed on our citizens.

Barry, a family man with a wife and two young daughters, understands how serious the problems families are facing in today's world. His easy, friendly manner creates a comfortable environment for constituents when they approach him with difficult issues affecting their lives.

Please join me in supporting Barry Finegold, a candidate for State Senate. He truly is a dedicated leader committed to public service.

Silberstein racks up grassroots endorsements MassAlliance and MTA latest groups endorsing for State Senate

ANDOVER - Debbie Silberstein continued to rack up more endorsements this week, adding MassAlliance and the Massachusetts Teacher's Association to the groups supporting her campaign for the open state senate seat in the 2nd Essex & Middlesex district.

MassAlliance is a grassroots umbrella organization, which includes 22 progressive advocacy organizations in the state, including SEIU, NARAL pro-choice Massachusetts, Planned Parenthood Advocacy Fund and MassEquality. The MTA is a statewide federation of teachers' unions who advocate for candidates for public office who will be strong advocates for both students and teachers.

"As a first-time candidate for state office I am proud and honored to have the MassAlliance endorsement," said Silberstein. "This is a grassroots organization, with tremendous talent and energy. It's a perfect match for my campaign. I am excited to work with MassAlliance and their supporters to bring a new kind of collaborative leadership to Beacon Hill."

"I am also very pleased to have the endorsement of the MTA and will work collaboratively with them as a state senator to support education in the Commonwealth," said Silberstein.

Debbie Silberstein is a small business owner, wife, mother and community activist. She is a former Finance Committee member and School Committee chair from Andover. She also served on the town's Council for Aging. Debbie has a background in economics and a Ph.D. in social policy. Her campaign has already been endorsed by the Massachusetts Women's Political Caucus, the Massachusetts Chapter of the National Organization for Women, the Massachusetts Teachers Association and MassAlliance.

Representative Miceli announces office hours

Representative James

Miceli will also be holding office hours for the Town of Tewksbury, Tuesday July 27th from 9:30 - 11 a.m. at the Tewksbury Senior Citizen Center and also from 6:30 - 8 p.m. at the Tewksbury Public Library.

American Red Cross blood drive at Masonic Lodge

WILMINGTON - The American Red Cross and the Moms' Club of Wilmington are holding a blood drive to support the community blood supply for patients in need. Every two seconds, someone in the United States needs blood, and every pint donated could save up to three lives.

The Red Cross is urging the public to make an appointment to donate blood at the below location by calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or by visiting www.redcrossblood.org.

When: Sunday, July 25, 2010, 9 a.m. - 2 p.m.

Where: Wilmington Masonic Lodge, 32 Church

Street, Wilmington, MA 01887
The American Red Cross Blood Services - Northeast Division must distribute approximately 3,000 units of blood each day just to meet the basic needs of area patients. Individuals who are at least 17 years of age (16 with parental permission), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements. Please bring your Red Cross blood donor card or other form of ID when you come to donate.

Simmons named to Dean's List at Villanova

VILLANOVA, PA - Stephanie Simmons of Tewksbury has been named to the Dean's List for the 2010 spring semester in Villanova University's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Simmons is a sophomore.

Every year, students with established outstanding academic records are honored by each college's dean. To qualify for the Dean's List in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, one must be a matriculated full-time student and earn a semester grade point average of 3.5.

Villanova University, a co-educational Roman Catholic institution, was founded by the Order of St. Augustine in 1862. Villanova provides a comprehensive education rooted in the liberal arts; a shared commitment to the Augustinian ideals of truth, unity and love; and a community dedicated to service to others. A wide variety of undergraduate and graduate degree programs are offered through the its four colleges: the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the Villanova School of Business, the College of Engineering and the College of Nursing, as well as the Villanova School of Law. With a total enrollment of over 10,000 undergraduate, graduate and law students, it is the oldest and largest Catholic university in Pennsylvania.

OBITUARIES

Bethsy "Betty" Fosse Burgess

An example of a Godly wife and mother

Bethsy "Betty" Fosse Burgess, died November 27, 2009 in Florida. She lived the majority of her life in Tewksbury. She was born to Agnar and Ingeborg Fosse on March 17, 1927 in Boston, Mass. She married her high school sweetheart, Melvin A. Burgess on May 11, 1946. They just celebrated their 63rd wedding anniversary this year.

Betty was a proud American and was also proud of her Norwegian heritage. She loved music, especially traditional hymns, choruses and Norwegian folk songs. She enjoyed spending time with her family, taking pictures to preserve the moment.

Betty was an example of what a Godly wife and mother ought to be. She loved being involved in her children's lives and in the lives of her four granddaughters and five great grandchildren. We will all miss her dearly.

Betty is survived by her husband, Melvin A. Burgess, her children and their spouses: Melvin D. "Mickey" and Ty Burgess, Kathleen and Thomas Elliott, grandchilddren and their spouses Kristi and Tony Taylor, Kimberly and Tony Ricciardo, Melina and David Brannon II, and Denise and Benjamin Stanaland, and her great grandchildren Kylee, Joshua, Abigail, Samantha and Julia. She is also survived by her sister Edith Perkins and her brother Lloyd Fosse.

Her funeral was held on December 1st, 2009 at the Maranatha Fellowship Church in Winter Park, FL.

Martha Lydia Howe

Avid reader, generous lady; lived entire life at Silver Lake

WILMINGTON - Mrs. Martha Lydia (Field) Howe, a life-long resident of Wilmington, passed away on Monday, July 19, 2010, at the age of 90.

Martha Field was born in her family home on Lake Street on March 2, 1920, she was the dear daughter of the late Frederick A. and Lydia E. (Younie) Field.

She lived in the Silver Lake area of Wilmington her entire life and attended Wilmington Public Schools.

Martha was very proud of her heritage and she researched her family history. She found out that her family background consisted of miners and clock makers from Cornwall, England during the 19th Century and farmers in Maine.

She married Chester C. Howe on March 9, 1939, they celebrated 54 years of marriage before his passing in November of 1993. Together Martha and Chester raised their seven children, Martha always had an "open door" policy for family and friends, everyone was always welcome. Martha loved to cook and there was always a dinner table set and ready as well as a refrigerator full of leftovers to be shared with who ever dropped in.

In her spare time, Martha was an avid reader, finishing a book or two a week all her life. She enjoyed romance novels, mysteries, spy books, and biographies.

Martha was also a very generous person, she continuously gave to charities like the Red Cross, Salvation Army, and the various Veterans Organizations, even when she didn't have much to spare she always made sure she contributed. As her family grew and came upon difficulties she expanded her charities to include organizations that had helped family members such as Cancer Society, Heart and Lung Associations, and Cystic Fibrosis. She never forgot to donate and was grateful to those who helped her family in the past.

Martha will be fondly remembered for her generosity.

ty, her kind and caring ways, and for her devotion to her family and friends. She was a wonderful wife, mother, grandmother, and surrogate to many. She will be greatly missed.

Martha was the beloved wife of the late Chester C. Howe, devoted mother of Chester C. Howe & his wife Carol of Andover, Robert A. Howe & his wife Barbara Ann of Wilmington, Nancy E. Wheeler of Merrimack, NH, Donald W. Howe & his wife Susan of High Springs, FL, Richard T. Howe & his wife Donna of Billerica, Lawrence F. Howe of Wilmington, and Sandra McFeeters & her husband Michael of Wilmington, loving grandmother of 17 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren, dear sister of the late Roger S. Field, Frederick J. Field, James W. Field, and Madge Sabre, Martha is also survived by many nieces, nephews, and dear friends.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday, July 24th at 10:30 a.m. in the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington. Interment Wildwood Cemetery. Visiting hours Friday, July 23rd from 4-8 p.m. In lieu of flowers memorial donations in Martha's name may be made to the American Cancer Society, 30 Speen St., Framingham, MA 01701, American Heart Association, 20 Speen St., Framingham 01701, or the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, 214 North Main St., Suite 202, Natick, MA 01760. <http://www.nicholsfuneralhome.com>

David Wang named to Dean's List at Villanova

VILLANOVA, PA - David Wang of Wilmington has been named to the Dean's List for the 2010 spring semester in Villanova University's College of Engineering. Wang is a freshman.

Every year, Villanova University students with established outstanding academic records are honored by the dean of each college. To qualify for the Dean's List in the College of Engineering, one must be a matriculated full-time student and earn a semester grade point average of 3.25.

Villanova University, a co-educational Roman Catholic institution, was founded by the Order of Saint Augustine in 1842. A premier institution of higher education, Villanova provides a comprehensive education rooted in the liberal arts; a shared commitment to the Augustinian ideals of truth, unity and love; and a community dedicated to service to others. A wide variety of undergraduate and graduate degree programs are offered through the University's four colleges: the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the Villanova School of Business, the College of Engineering and the College of Nursing, as well as the Villanova School of Law. With a total enrollment that surpasses 10,000 undergraduate, graduate and law students, Villanova is the oldest and largest Catholic university in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Steen sisters on Dean's List at Bunker Hill Comm. Col.

Mary Ann and Debbie Steen have each been named to the Dean's List and have received letters of Merit at Bunkerhill Community College. Both Mary Ann and Debbie are pursuing Associates Degrees in Human Services.

They are currently serving internships. Mary Ann is at a private home in Malden and Debbie is at private home in Reading. Their duties are helping the youths there with studies, teaching how to cook and helping with homework.

The Steens graduated from Perkins School for the Blind in Watertown.

They are the daughters of Madeline and Richard Steen of Wilmington.

Peter George

Educator worked in software industry; 54

WILMINGTON - Peter George, of Wilmington, died peacefully after a long illness on Thursday morning, July 8, 2010. He was 54 years of age.

Peter was born in Athens, Greece and grew up in Wilmington. After attending Suffolk University and Harvard Business School he spent several years as an educator before starting a career in the software industry. He will always be remembered for his ability to light up a room with his brilliant personality and how he could captivate and entertain his guests. Peter was a true Renaissance Man. His greatest joy in life was his daughter, Anastasia with whom he shared his passion for attending theater and dance. In addition to his daughter, Anastasia George of Wilmington, Delaware, he is also survived by his parents, Jean and John George of Wilmington, MA; one sister, Elaine George of Malden, and numerous aunts, uncles and cousins. A Funeral Service was held at the Annunciation of the Virgin Mary Greek Orthodox Church in Woburn and burial was in Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn. The Graham Funeral Home of Woburn was in charge of the arrangements.

ST. JUDE'S NOVENA

May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and praised throughout the world now and forever, Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, help the hopeless, pray for us.

Say this prayer nine times a day, by the 8th day your prayer will be answered. It has never been known to fail. Publication must be promised. My prayers have been answered.

Animal World Experience: Going Green in Your Backyard

Wed, July 28, 10 am -12 pm
Registration required
Imagine if there was a way for your backyard to benefit wildlife while still being beautiful and functional to you. There is! In this intriguing and interactive program hear about why animals have such a hard time surviving in the average backyard. Kids will meet live animals that they may hope to encounter outside their homes as some of the many ways to help them are explored. Using 100% recycled materials, a volunteer from the audience will have the opportunity to help construct a simple birdhouse that they can bring home with them. There will be many other projects and ideas discussed that children can implement in their own yard. Sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

Book Discussion for Ages 7 & Older: Say What? by Margaret Peterson Haddix

Thursday, Aug 5, 11:30 am
Sukie is worried—her parents are acting strange. When she runs in the house, her dad asks, "If all your friends jumped off a bridge, would you jump off a bridge too?" When she eats peas with her fingers, Mom yells, "You'll put an eye out with that thing!" What is going on? Have her parents been replaced by aliens? Are they robots with broken circuits? She and her older brother decide to investigate, and what they discover leads to a kids-against-parents WAR! Read Margaret Peterson Haddix's funny book, Say What?, and discover a family with an unusual set of rules. Copies of the book may be reserved by visiting or calling the Children's Room. Drop-in for the discussion with your own boxed lunch—a fun dessert and door prize will be provided by the Friends of the Library.

First stop, Los Angeles

Boston/Wilmington heart-throb rock band heads out on national tour

BOSTON - Boston rock band One Step Away has just completed all the tracks for their new full length album: FOR THE BROKEN to be released in stores September 19, 2010. One Step Away hits the road for a national tour with the first stop in Los Angeles CA, opening up for Harold Perrineau (of ABC's LOST TV Show) at Hollywood's Universal CityWalk's 'Plugged-In' Summer Music Revolution Celebrity Band Series.

Rock band One Step Away is rapidly gaining momentum, and exposure. On July 3, 2010, Boston Harborfest's Kevin Shea, Senior Executive V. President of Marketing & Promotions, introduced One Step Away at their Boston City Hall performance, saying, "They travelled home from the recording studios in Pennsylvania last night to perform this special show for you..."

With a new full-length album just weeks from its official release, Boston's heart-throb band One Step Away heads out on a nationwide promotional tour. The first leg of their tour will be in Los Angeles, CA, giving private and public performances at multiple locations including Six Flags Magic Mountain, Universal Studios CityWalk and Whiskey a GoGo. Their tour will consist of many traditional performances as well as promotional retail venue shows, radio shows and interviews.

This is not your typical rock-pop band. One Step Away is comprised of talented and ambitious teenagers. Members of One Step Away include 17-year-olds Adam Carrington of Andover (Lead Vocals), Terence Healy of Wilmington (Lead Guitar/Vocals), Mike Nuzzolo of Andover (Bass/Vocals), and 15-year-old Ben Trudeau of Beverly (Drums/Vocals).

Graced with dozens of awards and contest wins, they took the next step to get their latest set of originals produced professionally. This past spring, juggling school, active high school students.

One Step Away began in 2006, morphing to become the young phenom they are today. They are no stranger to the stage and music industry with performances given in a variety of major venues like Foxwoods MGM Grand, Boston Hard Rock Cafe, radio and on several New England tures.

Barry Nolan, Emmy Award-winning television journalist and commentator, stated this about One Step Away: "You bring the sense of joy and fun to rock and roll which is what it deserves to have."

On July 31, One Step Away has a homecoming tour stop where Boston residents can catch them at Newburyport's Yankee Homecoming Celebrations from 3-4:30 p.m. at Market Square. The next day they head to the Midwest, stopping first with a special return-performance at Six Flags New England. The tour continues with their performances in multiple states including Illinois, Missouri, Maryland, New Jersey and many more.

One Step Away's new album FOR THE BROKEN releases on September 19. A welcome home CD Release Party concert is to be held at the Hard Rock Café on September 19. You can find more about them at www.myspace.com/1stepawayband, www.facebook.com/onestepaway and on YouTube: www.youtube.com/nuzzozina.

sports, volunteer work, friends and family, these youth found time to spend 10-20 hours a week with their producers, often over Skype.

After classes got out in June, they travelled to Pennsylvania where they completed an intense recording experience that consisted of several weeks with dual-studio tracking and mixing of their songs. The result was a brand new album, stuffed with catchy original songs, richly laden with treasures of ear-candy harmonies and instrumental texturing. One Step Away now has just under twenty copyrighted songs to their name! Not bad for very

TV stations like WBZ, WSBK and Rhode Island's Fox TV.

One Step Away is known for its rare ability to deliver gorgeous melodic vocals that soar over precision instrumentals. The dynamic rock quartet prides itself in delivering across the full spectrum of rock from soft rock ballads like "Tomorrow and Forever" to edgy precision rock of "In This Moment." They engage their audiences with amazingly dynamic shows, creating a strong crowd magnetism readily seen by their post-performance flock of mesmerized and energized fans that surround them, asking for signatures and pic-

Pow Wow returns to Woburn

WOBURN - The rhythmic beating of drums. Colorful regalia swirling as the dancers move to the beat around the circle. Native crafts from many different tribes. All things you might find at a pow wow out west, right? But wait! You don't have to go out west to find all this!

People can find it right here at Woburn's Eighth Annual Native American Pow Wow brought to the city by WREN and sponsored by ReMax-Leading Edge.

On Saturday and Sunday, July 31 and August 1, the field in front of the Altavesta School at 990 Main St. in North Woburn will be transformed into a field of dancing, music and other elements of Native American culture from the many different tribes of North America.

People can come and listen to the haunting music. The Pow Wow will have four drums this year, three from Massachusetts and one from Maine.

And, this year for the first time since 2003, there will be a special guest appearance by Native American Flute recording artist, Jesse Red Horse, on Sunday, Aug. 1. Jesse Red Horse spent the early years of his life right here in Woburn! Fifteen years ago, when a chance ticket bought by his wife won a flute, Jesse started playing. Now, fifteen years later, writing and playing his own music is his way of helping to preserve his native heritage. He also teaches others to play the flute as a way to pass on this heritage. As a special treat, he will have a triple flute this year. Its unique sound will captivate all who hear it.

Also, people can come watch colorful dancers. You can even dance with them yourself. This year the group will have men's Grass Dancers, women's Fancy Dancers and Gingle Dancers among others. Browse the tables of fine native crafts and find a delicate little Dream Catcher for the home or a beautiful pair of silver and turquoise earrings for oneself. Stop and have a Buffalo Burger for lunch or sample some other native foods such as Tumahsis (flat bread) or Pow Wow tacos.

This year, the Pow Wow will also have "Raven's Tree House," where children learn about native heritage during one hour activities designed around games, story telling, crafts and music. This is provided free of charge by Raven Tree Studio of Indian Orchard, MA.

Come on up to "Berry Meadow" (the Colonial name of the area where the Altavesta School now sits) on Saturday and Sunday, July 31 and August 1, from 10:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. for fun, food, entertainment and native crafts.

There will be a Grand Entry at noon on both days. No alcohol or drugs are allowed. For more information, call 781-933-4146 or email GGHawk@comcast.net

C.S.I. Tewksbury @ Tewksbury Public Library

TEWKSBURY - Visit the Tewksbury Public Library on Wednesday nights this July to hear our "expert witnesses" discuss issues related to crime. Next week's "Criminal Minds, Killer Events" program features an interactive presentation on forensic science from Paul Zambella of the State Police Lab.

Forget the television show CSI! On Wednesday, July 28 at 6:30 p.m., come and hear REAL stories from Paul Zambella, a practicing Massachusetts forensic scientist.

Zambella will discuss: history of forensic science, the state police crime lab, functions of forensic scientist, fingerprint processing, detection of blood, DNA collection, and the use of metal detectors and Crimescopes. A question and answer session will follow the presentation.

Paul Zambella has been employed as a Forensic Scientist at the State Police Lab for the past 36 years in various positions including crime scene investigator, criminalist, serologist, toxicologist and drug analyst.

During the course of his career, he has participated in more than 400 crime scene investigations and testified in more than 300 criminal trials. He has taught courses in Forensic Science at Northeastern University and Salem State College.

Doors open at 6:15 p.m. The event begins at 6:30 p.m. Registration is strongly recommended as it aids the presenter and library staff in planning. Register by stop-

UniFirst celebrates 9th Annual Founder's Day

WILMINGTON - UniFirst Corporation celebrated its 9th Annual Founder's Day at its facilities in Wilmington, MA on July 16. Founder's Day honors the memory of the late Aldo Croatti, who started the company on July 12, 1936; it is held on the Friday closest to that historic date each year and has been an annual event since Mr. Croatti's passing in 2001.

During the day's celebrations, UniFirst honored its Employee of the Year, Laurie Albano, a Tax Supervisor in the Corporate Tax Department. Laurie's official nomination stated: "We recognized Laurie Albano for this unique company honor because of the ongoing contributions she makes to UniFirst's success and her constant willingness to go the extra mile."

UniFirst President and CEO, Ronald Croatti, whose father founded the company, thanked the nearly 300 employee Team Partners in attendance for their day-to-day contributions in helping to make the company become the recognized industry leader it is today, saying, "My thanks go out to all of you."

As Employee of the Year, Laurie was presented a special recognition gift and her name has been engraved on a special plaque that has been put on permanent display at the UniFirst facility. Laurie, who resides in Dracut with husband Andrew, has worked at UniFirst for nearly six years.

UniFirst, which has facilities at more than 200 locations throughout the U.S. and Canada, is a leading supplier of uniforms and work apparel to a wide range of industries. More than one million people wear the company's apparel to work every business day of the year. The company also provides facility services' cleanliness products, such as restroom items and floor mats. For more information, call UniFirst at 800-225-3364 (U.S.) or visit www.unifirst.com.

Community Health Institute receives grant Will go towards implementing free family caregiver program in Woburn

WINCHESTER.

Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute has been awarded $17,611 from the Tufts Healthcare Foundation to implement a free Family Caregiver Program. The program has been created by Sue Powers, RN, MS, associate director of the Community Health Institute, to provide family members with the knowledge and confidence necessary to successfully care for loved ones at home and prevent rehospitalization.

According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the number of people 65 and older is expected to increase to 19.6 percent of the U.S. population, or 71 million people, by 2030. As a result, more individuals will be living with chronic illness or disability, with responsibility for that care often falling to spouses and other family members.

For example, stroke - the nation's third leading cause of death - leaves one-third of its victims with residual deficits that require assistance in daily activities. Other common chronic conditions include cellulitis, incontinence, immobility, obesity, end stage renal disease, dementia, macular degeneration, progressive supranuclear palsy, arthritis, depression, hearing loss and Alzheimer's disease.

Powers said she established the Family Caregiver Program after reviewing statistics indicating that caregivers become more competent when they have formal support. In addition to decreased stress, caregivers report pride in their ability to meet challenges, an enhanced sense of self-worth, greater closeness in their relationship with the patient and an enhanced sense of meaning.

The Family Caregiver Program uses curriculum adapted from Winchester Hospital's Nurse Aide Training Program and Home Health Aide Program to assist adult family members in caring for older family members who are sick or recovering at home. It consists of 25 hours (six sessions) of classroom education, which includes practice in a skills training lab. Topics include safety in the home, infection control, bathing and dressing, incontinence care, making an occupied bed, good body mechanics, using assistive devices, exercising the patient, nutrition and hydration, assisting with medications, patient rights, preventing burnout and community resources. The Community Health Institute is partnering with Minuteman Home Care to offer respite care and transportation, as needed.

After piloting the Family Caregiver Program, Powers conducted a survey which indicated a 20 percent to 25 percent improvement in caregiver confidence as a result of the training.

"This grant will allow us to serve families who find themselves with overwhelming responsibilities," Powers said. "The home is where the heart is. It is where family caregivers, with more confidence in their knowledge and skills, can provide better care to their loved ones."

Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute Family Caregiver Program is being offered at Baldwin Park I, Suite 207 in Woburn, with a maximum of 12 participants per class. For more information, call (781) 756-

About Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute

Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute is committed to helping community members take responsibility for their health and well-being by offering the education and resources that change lives. Established in 1996, the Community Health Institute provides more than 30 programs and services throughout the year, with offerings in disease management, childbirth, integrative therapies, fitness, yoga, Tai Chi/Qi Gong, CPR and first aid, weight management, career services and support groups. The institute is also home to two retail services: A Caring Place, which features wigs, bras, prostheses and head coverings for women living with cancer; and the Lactation Center Boutique, which offers the highest-quality breastfeeding supplies and support. Unless otherwise indicated within the program's description, for more information or to register, please call the Community Health Institute at (781) 756-4700 or visit www.winchesterhospital.org.

Mass. NOW PAC endorses Deb Silberstein, candidate for State Senate

BOSTON - The Massachusetts Chapter of the National Organization for Women Political Action Committee (Mass. NOW PAC) is pleased to announce its endorsement of Deb Silberstein. Deb is running for election to the Second Essex and Middlesex State Senate District.

Christina Knowles, State Director and Lobbyist for Mass. NOW, says, "The Mass. NOW PAC is thrilled to endorse Deb Silberstein for State Senate. Deb has a long track record of fighting for equal rights and advocating for women's issues. Deb has the experience and the vision needed to be an effective legislator, and we look forward to electing Deb to the Senate and working with her to advance the rights and status of women and girls in Massachusetts."

The Mass. NOW PAC endorses candidates who are committed to NOW's mission and priority issue areas, including reproductive freedom, racial justice, constitutional rights, economic justice, LGBT Rights, and ending violence against women. In order to receive the support of the Mass. NOW PAC, candidates must go through a rigorous endorsement process, including a multi-issue questionnaire and an interview with PAC members.

The Mass. NOW PAC works ensure that women's rights and other social justice issues are given a voice on Beacon Hill, and Deb is a champion of our issues. As an attorney, Deb has dedicated her life to fighting for women's rights and empowerment, particularly for older divorced women and survivors of domestic violence. Deb spent six years on Andover's School Committee, and served for three years as the Chair. Deb also spent time working as the Director of an extended-day after-school program that provided child care relief to working parents. As such, Deb intimately knows the issues facing working parents and their families, and will fight to ensure that the needs of families are given a voice.

On receiving the Mass. NOW PAC endorsement Deb says, "I am honored to have the endorsement of Mass. NOW PAC. They have a proven track record of advocating for all women and advancing social justice. I share Mass. NOW PAC's strong commitment to improving the quality of life for women and families and I will work hard as State Senator to make this happen."

The primary election is Tuesday, September 14, 2010. Please be sure to head to the polls and join the Mass. NOW PAC in supporting Deb Silberstein for State Senate.

Realtor Academy Awards: Lawson receives Circle of Hope award

WILMINGTON - The Eastern Middlesex Association of Realtors (EMAR) Circle of Hope award is presented to the member who has dedicated their time and energy to improving the lives of many who are in need. This person, along with their energetic and dedicated committee, provided hope and caring for those people needing food and clothing. It is with great pleasure that the EMAR announces that the Circle of Hope Award goes to REALTOR® Community Service Chair - Gwen Lawson!

Gwen Lawson is the chairperson for the Realtor Community Service (RCS) committee at EMAR for the last two years, 2009 and 2010. Gwen has been a Realtor since 2001. She lives and works in Wilmington and the area at large as a Realtor for RE/MAX Heritage, LLC. Her job as chairperson of RCS is to promote events and fundraisers that benefit the communities/towns that Realtors work in. The RCS committee, which is comprised of many area Realtors and affiliates hosts several key events each year: A Spring food drive which benefits 12 area food pantries, Suits for Suitability - a suit drive that produced 50+ gently used suits for job-seeking women who need interview appropriate attire, Fall fundraiser - proceeds allow for the purchase of warm outerwear for the Dept of Children and Family Services (DCFS), and a holiday Toy Drive that benefits the same organization (DCFS). The next RCS event is a Bunco game night at the Woburn Sons of Italy on September 24th from 7-11pm ($20/pp includes admission, game play, food, and prizes). All proceeds will be used to buy new coats for children this winter! To purchase tickets please contact Gwen at gwen@lawsonsell.com.

The Harnden Tavern in Wilmington is open for "Lunch and Games" on Friday's through Aug 6th, weather permitting. Last Friday was terrific weather and that brought out many residents for fun and games including Savannah, Sullivan and Maggie Delaney who practiced their hula skills. Although the hoops they were using were used in a rolling game 200 years ago, it seems they work well in the 20th century, too.

Wilmington Farmers Market Association co-founder, had appeared before the Board in April of this year, to initially request the Swain School site for a farmers market. At that time, the Board asked that she investigate whether other markets in Massachusetts were being held on municipal land. The Association reported, this past Monday, that more than half of the farmers markets in Massachusetts are held on municipal land, whether it be a town common or park, a public parking lot, or even a street temporarily closed to traffic.

The Association also updated the Board on the progress made during its monthly meetings, which are held at the Wilmington Memorial Library. Since April, the Association has filed as a corporation with the state of Massachusetts, is in the process of becoming a non-profit business, has created a business plan, market rules, a website, and has conducted an online survey about people's buying habits when it comes to fresh produce and how they would feel about having a farmers market in Wilmington.

With over 400 households responding so far, the survey revealed that many people in Wilmington shop outside of town for their fresh fruits and vegetables, with many commenting that they go to farmers markets in other towns, and stop at roadside farm stands when they can. A number of respondents took the time to leave positive comments about how much they would love to have a farmers market in Wilmington. Others mentioned how much they missed the farm stands that used to be in town, like the one that was on Wildwood Street until a few years ago. Selections of those comments were presented to the Board of Selectman on Monday during the Association's presentation. The comments in their entirety were part of a packet of information provided to the Selectmen. Other survey results pointed out that respondents thought either Saturday or Sunday morning would be an ideal time for a market.

Highlights of the Wilmington Farmers Market Association business plan included the intent to have a market with a maximum of 18 booths, twelve devoted to farmers and the balance going to a variety of local artisans and community organizations. The market rules specify that vendors must be from Massachusetts and be located no more than 40 miles from Wilmington, thus ensuring the freshness of their products.

While the idea of a farmers market in Wilmington was generally well-received by the Board of Selectmen, Michael Newhouse suggested that the Association meet with Town Manager Michael Caira to discuss possible locations - including the Swain School site or other municipal land - or even having the market located in a business district, or on private land. Newhouse and Caira both emphasized that through the town manager's office, the Association would be able to get input from other town departments, including the Public Safety and Public Health departments.

Selectman Michael Champoux spoke in support of the farmers market and the Association, stating that he thought it was a great idea when Amanda Munsie originally appeared before the Board in April, and would love to see it happen.

All members of the Board of Selectman complimented the Association on their presentation and the amount of work that had been done in preparation for their appearance.

Although the Association

initially hoped to get going by this summer, it is now hoping to begin operations in the summer of 2011. Once the Association began meeting regularly, it was determined that it would take approximately a year to 18 months to get a farmers market up and running. The next steps include meeting with the Town Manager, securing a location, filling positions on the steering committee, and finding sponsors to help with funding.

For more information, or to get involved, go to the Wilmington Farmers Market website (www.wilmingtonfarmersmarket.com) and sign up to be on the mailing list.

Cushing retires...sort of

Prior to his employment with the Town, Cushing worked for Sweetheart Plastics for 22 years in a public relations position.

"Sweetheart Plastics was the best company in the world to work for," Cushing said. "That company was fully committed to this community. It was because of Sweetheart that I was able to work on the 250th Anniversary and with the Recreation Commission. It is because of the company's commitment to Wilmington that I was able to join Rotary Club."

The company philosophies began shifting in the early 90's and those new outlooks resulted in Cushing's decision to leave Sweetheart in 1991. He was bitten by the entrepreneurial bug, which led to several projects, including Mr. Spumoni's Ice Cream (located next to Rocco's where the Dunkin Donuts is currently). During that time he also worked on the Rink Committee and opened the concession stand at Ristuccia Ice Arena.

It was during this time that he and two high school students installed the walkways at Rotary Park.

After a couple of years, Cushing decided to get back into corporate America. His Sweetheart plastics boss had gone to work for BayBank and was more than eager to bring Cushing into the company. Cushing was offered a position to run a department within the corporate offices overseeing 75 to 80 employees. But it was not to be.

While interviewing with BayBank, Cushing had a chance encounter his long-time friend Robert Palmer, Wilmington's then-Superintendent of Public Works. Palmer had always held appreciation for all of the volunteer work Cushing did with the fields in town, primarily Cushing's revitalization of the Town Park on Main Street. Palmer offered Cushing a job within the DPW, with the promise that he would be transferred to Grounds Keeping as soon as a position opened up.

Cushing had two offers; offers that couldn't possibly have been more dissimilar.

His former boss thought he was crazy to turn down the position at BayBank.

"He was mad at first, but after I explained it, he said, 'I'm jealous - you're going to be doing what you love to do,'" said Cushing.

He was not able to remain an active member or Wilmington Rotary Club when he went to work for the Town, as the club's meetings are held on Wednesday afternoons. The Club, however, extended him honorary member status in recognition of all his previous service.

Approximately 10 years ago, Cushing established the Wilmington High School Interact Club, which is the Rotary Club's youth service organization. The club takes part in humanitarian service, and participates in at least one community service action each week for the town. Cushing noted that the club, which began with about 20 students, had roughly 200 students registered in the past year.

His favorite part of his job in grounds keeping is getting to spend time with the kids and attending the various ballgames, as well taking pleasure in watching people enjoy the fields.

Back in 1980, when Wilmington celebrated its 250th anniversary, Cushing was a member of the committee that planned the festivities, and he took pride in the fact that the budget for the celebration was raised through fundraisers.

"We ran all kinds of events throughout the year," he said. Athletic events were held during the summer, and, following a positive report to the Board of Selectmen, the Fourth of July program was begun, with Cushing serving for fifteen years as its first chairman.

It was in that same year that Cushing was named Wilmington's Good Guy.

Cushing also ran an annual class reunion softball game for more than a decade, which at its peak incorporated 28 former classes.

In 2005, Cushing spearheaded the town's 275th Anniversary celebrations.

During his employment with the town, Cushing said, the scope of Wilmington athletics has grown incredibly. The number of programs has increased, and the toughest part of his work has often been finding places for everyone to play. He is an advocate of Poly-Turf for a new field at the high school, which he says would allow the field to serve multiple activities throughout the year. He added that, with all of the activities in town, the fields take a beating and don't often have enough time to recover properly. He fears that a potential crisis could be looming. He added that utilizing Poly-Turf at the high school would allow the other fields an opportunity to recover and provide services to all. "It would be a wise investment on the town's part," he said.

Cushing has spent his entire life in town. His father, Lawrence Cushing, was the town's first Athletic Director, and the high school's gymnasium bears his name. Cushing has endeavored to follow the examples and philosophies set by his father, whether it was in recreation or at the high school level. He added that he has always enjoyed himself in town and with its people. Cushing considers Wilmington to be a unique town, adding, "Volunteers in this town are so great." He added that Wilmington doesn't "need to take a backseat to anybody."

While serving as Athletic Director, Cushing's father had an assistant to help him. Due to budget cuts over the years, current director Ed Harrison does not enjoy this benefit. Cushing has agreed to volunteer as Harrison's assistant, offering to do whatever is needed. He is also interested in starting an alumni athlete association, and running games for fundraising. Some years ago he installed regulation bocce courts in his yard, and is now running bocce leagues and tournaments to raise money for charity.

Cushing acknowledged the great support he has received throughout the years. "When I've tried to do something, there's always great support from volunteers," he said.

Cushing married his high school sweetheart, Sandy, and raised two sons here in town. In retirement, he has once again become a full-fledged Rotarian and is looking forward to spending more time with his grandchildren.

"Now I have the time and the opportunity to do everything that I love doing," said Cushing.

BOSTON: Representative James R. Miceli hosted the students from the Third Grade Classes of the Shawsheen School during the third week of April. The children, the teachers and their chaperones enjoyed their visit.

"It is always a great pleasure to watch the children's faces as they walk through one of the most historic buildings in the country," said Rep. Miceli. Rep. Miceli spent time with the students and engaged them in a question and answer period.

Wilmington team takes on Billerica

Senior All-Stars advance to sectionals

By MIKE GIANNATTASIO
JOSH VOTO

After winning the District title, the Wilmington Senior League Baseball All-Star team advanced to the double elimination sectionals and were eliminated after losing two of its three games including a 10-0 defeat to a tough Billerica team.

Over the course of the post-season tournament, Wilmington beat North Reading by forfeit, defeated Billerica 10-9, lost to Gloucester 14-2, and were defeated by Billerica 10-0.

Peter Otovic was the manager of the squad, and he said pitching played a tremendous role in the team's tournament.

"With games every two days, and my pitchers requiring four rest days between outings due to the pitch count rules, we simply ran out of eligible horses," said Otovic.

Otovic said he enjoyed coaching the well rounded group of young men.

"They were an absolute pleasure to coach and were hungry to play," said Otovic. "Even though we did not advance as far as we would have liked, we certainly played as hard as we could have. Like I tell my own children, as long as you can walk off of that field knowing you gave it your best, as a coach, there is nothing else I can ask for."

With just one player on the bench during Saturday's contest, Billerica's bats and pitching were too much for Wilmington, who fell victim to a 10-0 defeat.

"We were missing a lot of kids on Saturday," said Otovic. "Many were on vacation, and weren't able to make the game. We only had about ten kids there, so it was tough with such limited options."

In the top of the first inning, Billerica was held scoreless with just a single and a walk. However, the strong Billerica pitcher seemed to be too much for the Wilmington team's offense. In the bottom half of the inning, Wilmington only managed to get on with a bunt and then a walk. In the second inning, Billerica got on the board. With a couple of strong hits, a double, and a single, Billerica was up 3-0.

"It was unfortunate that we were down," said Otovic. "It was one of those games where we hit them where they were, and they hit them where we weren't."

In the later half of the game, Billerica added a couple more runs, making it 5-0 in their favor. Wilmington seemed to have quite a tough time producing hits off of the Billerica pitcher.

"It was tough for the guys to get some hits," explained Otovic. "Billerica's pitcher struck out a lot of players, and everytime someone did connect, a Billerica player would be there to catch it or throw him out."

In the sixth inning, the scoreline widened when Billerica's offense surged with a massive influx of hits. Every player that stepped up seemed to get a piece of the ball. In the top of the sixth inning, the Billerica side scored an additional five runs, making the score 10-0. Despite Wilmington's determination, the game was called as the sixth inning ended due to the league instated mercy rule, which takes effect when a team has gone up ten or more runs.

"The kids tried as hard as they could," said Joe Mullens, President of Wilmington Little League. "The other team was very good. Their pitcher was very strong, which caused Wilmington to lack the offense they needed to win."

Though the Wilmington side lost, they proved to be strong in the face of defeat.

Being low on numbers and personnel, the Wilmington Senior All-Stars were able to come together and work cooperatively throughout the game. Many present at the game Saturday would agree that the team showed determination and strength, as they succumbed to defeat in the hands of an experienced Billerica team.

"This is the first year that Wilmington has had an All-Star team like this," said Otovic. "The boys did a wonderful job on Saturday, and were a pleasure to coach throughout the past few weeks. We did the best we could with the numbers we had, and all of the kids worked hard and never complained. Hopefully, this team's success will generate some enthusiasm for the younger Wilmington baseball players who aspire to play at that level in the next few years."

"They had fun while playing but they were all business once the ump said play ball," continued Otovic. "The group of young men that I had were very close with each other which lead to great team chemistry. As a coach, it makes life much easier knowing that your team enjoys being with each other and will help each other out to get the win. Every team has different personalities and what not, but this team was special and will always be in my memory. This endeavor was Wilmington's first Senior League attempt ever," said Otovic. "Hopefully the future should be very bright next year."

Tewksbury Baseball Round-Up

Oberg impressive for All-Americans

By CHRIS RICCIARDI
Sports Correspondent

A local native impressed the town of Tewksbury with his pitching talents when he wore a Tewksbury Redmen uniform. Now, he is doing the same thing in Lowell, all while wearing a Lowell All-Americans jersey.

Scott Oberg, who played at Tewksbury Memorial High School from 2005-2008, is a relief pitcher for the All-Americans. He will enter his junior year at the University of Connecticut this fall.

The 6-foot-2-inch pitcher has performed well in the bullpen this season, appearing in ten games and pitching 14 innings. He has only allowed one earned run, striking out five batters with a 0.64 ERA. He has also closed out two games.

In a 6-1 victory against Bristol Collegiate, Oberg pitched the final inning for the All-Americans. He only allowed one hit during his outing, and he threw seven strikes out of nine pitches.

The Lowell All-Americans have a long stretch of games to close out the season. They have two straight games on the road. On July 22, Lowell will be in Newport for a 6:35 p.m. game against the Newport Gulls. Then, on July 23, the All-Americans will make the trip to New Bedford to play the New Bedford Bay Sox. This game will take place at 6:30 p.m.

Lowell Post 87

With a 15-4 record, the Lowell Post 87 squad was able to advance to the District 15 playoffs. Several Tewksbury residents were able to help out with the drive towards the playoffs.

Lowell clinched the top seed in Zone 5 for the state preliminary round playoff series with a 14-2 rout of Weston on the road. In that game, Tewksbury's Andrew Lee drove in two runs with a double and two singles. Another local native, pitcher Mike Chartier, has contributed to the team with his arm.

In a 9-5 comeback victory against Cambridge earlier this month, Chartier kept Lowell in the game with his relief pitching. By keeping Cambridge scoreless in 2 2/3 innings, Chartier set up the bottom of the eighth for a Lowell comeback. With two two-run doubles, Lowell was able to storm back for the victory.

Tewksbury's Rob Wallace also played a significant role in that game, hitting an RBI-double and reaching base four times.

Second annual Ciampa Memorial Field Hockey Clinic, August 9-10

The second annual Lauren Ciampa Memorial Field Hockey Clinic for girls in grades 4-12, benefiting The Jimmy Fund at the Dana Farber Cancer Institute will be held on Monday, August 9 and 10 from 8am to noon at the Andover High School varsity field.

The clinic is being held in memory of Lauren Ciampa, an Andover High School field hockey player who lost

Northeast Baseball

This season has not fared well for the Tewksbury Redmen Northeast Baseball team. With a 4-10 record, the Redmen will not qualify for the Northeast Baseball League playoffs.

Tewksbury struggled in the early-going, losing two-straight games against Lynnfield and North Reading. In the game against North Reading, the Tewksbury bats fell silent, only scoring a single run compared to Reading's six.

The Redmen responded with two convincing wins, however. First off, they defeated Stoneham by a 10-3 margin.

Frankie McLaughlin sealed the door on Stoneham with a fiery throw in the final inning, nailing Seamus Landers at third base to keep Stoneham away from the plate. Tewksbury took an early 6-0 lead against Stoneham, and they held the advantage throughout the day.

On June 25, the Redmen bats followed up their performance against Stoneham with another strong showing, dominating Tyngsboro pitchers for a 17-5 victory.

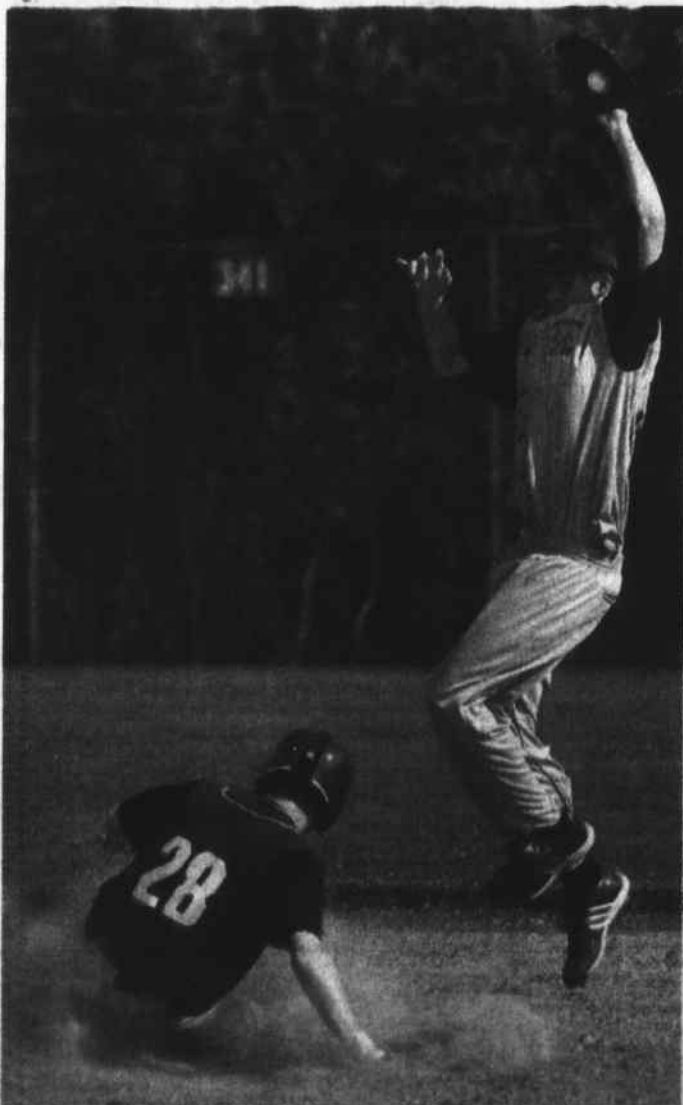

Tewksbury's pitching then took control of a game against Greater Lowell, holding Lowell to a single run in a 3-1 victory. They lost the next game against Westford, 13-5.

Tewksbury was forced to forfeit two straight games against Dracut and Billerica. After defeating Pelham, 7-2, the Redmen struggled to hit a stride. That losing streak doomed the Redmen's chances to make the playoffs.

Tewksbury lost four straight games. Before the streak, Tewksbury was 4-6 and had a slim chance at reaching the playoffs. Following the four-game stretch, however, Tewksbury's record dropped to 4-10, eliminating any chance of a postseason appearance. Their opponents in this stretch included Melrose, Burlington, Lowell, and Woburn.

In the game against Melrose, two Tewksbury players were able to reach the fences at Odbens Field. Kevin Saunders and Jeff Rauseo hit back-to-back home runs in the fourth inning, although Tewksbury lost the game by a 13-3 decision.

The 2010 Northeast Baseball League season will end for the Redmen on July 22. They will host Chelmsford at Strong Field for a 6 p.m. game.

Wilmington 11-year-olds play for sectional title

By JOSH VOTO
Sports Correspondent

For the first time in the program's history, Wilmington Little League sent an 11-year-old All-Star team to District play, and not only did the team excel with several exciting come from behind victories, Wilmington advanced all the way to the District Final losing to Wakefield, 3-1 on Sunday.

"It was a great game," said Joe Mullens, President of Wilmington Little League. "Both teams played very well, and there were definitely some great hits by both teams. This team did very well this year."

Wakefield got the scoring started in the top of the first inning putting several hits together to take a 1-0 lead. The bottom half of the inning saw some strong offense by Wilmington, but they weren't able to capitalize. In the second inning, neither team was able to put any runs across the plate due to stellar pitching from both sides. Both Justin Kannally and Jack Bertolami proved to be excellent on the mound throughout the entire game for Wilmington.

In the third inning, Wilmington found themselves in an all too familiar situation. Wakefield was able to take advantage of some Wilmington defensive errors and add another two runs to their total. The bottom of the third was yet another unproductive inning for the normally strong Wilmington boys. Wakefield was on top 3-0, but this didn't seem to worry the Wilmington side who were used to coming from behind to win games.

"To be honest, I think most of them thought we were going to win like we had in the other three games," said team manager Bob Mitchell. "We had been down against the other teams we had played in the tournament, and this seemed to be no different."

But this game was different, for the Wilmington team was never able to regain the lead. Through the fourth and fifth innings, the score remained the same. Neither side was able to produce too much offensive power, despite there being opportunities for some runs to be scored.

In the sixth inning the Wilmington team was not ready to leave the field without a win. They were determined to take home the district championship, and proved that as they got up to bat. Kannally hit a long double, which gave the Wilmington offense some inspiration to step it up. Then, Murphy stepped up to deliver a key single, scoring a run for Wilmington. The score remained 3-1, as a Wilmington player stepped up with the tying run on first. Yet, the Wakefield defense was too quick on their feet for the batter, as he grounded out into a game-ending double play.

It was certainly a tough loss for the hopeful Wilmington sluggers, who had wished to carry home the district title.

"It was tough for us to lose, because we played better than the other three games we had come back in," explained Mitchell. "We were able to hang in there throughout the game. We played very well, and I know this experience will only benefit the team going forward in their baseball careers."

Two local football players among Agganis Classic

By JOSH VOTO
Sports Correspondent

Thursday night played host to the 49th annual Agganis High School All-Star Football game held at Manning field in Lynn. This game pooled together some of the brightest young talents in high school football. Among these players were Wilmington's John Moriarty and Chris Cazeau, who were given the opportunity to showcase their skill on the football field along with other great football players throughout Massachusetts.

Both players lined suited up for the North Team, who fell victim to a tough South team by a score of 28-13.

"It was a very exciting game," said Wilmington High School coach Mike Barry. "The players were very good, and I believe John played very well. Unfortunately, Cazeau did not play, but John represented Wilmington well. He was able to showcase what he can do on the field."

The North team struck first, as they scored a touchdown in the first quarter, giving them a 6-0 lead. However, in the second quarter, the South team redeemed themselves with two back-to-back touchdown drives, giving them a 14-6 lead going into halftime.

Then, in the second half, the South side took the reigns, with a strong drive and pass, putting them up 21-6. The North were only able to score seven more points in their desperate attempt to regain the lead, but the South were too strong.

Late in the game, the South dominated possession, and were able to add another touchdown to their tally, giving them a 28-13 lead. Unfortunately for the North, the game would remain with the same scoreline, and the South were able to capture the win.

Despite being on the losing side, Moriarty enjoyed his time and the experience playing in this all-star type game.

"I was happy to have been selected," said Moriarty. "I knew it was a great honor, and I was also happy that I'd have the chance to wear the Wilmington High School football helmet one more time."

Just last month, Moriarty also played in the elite Shriner's All-Star Classic held at Gillette Stadium, and this performance in that game led him to be named one of the defensive team captains during the Agganis Classic.

"I was very excited and honored to have been selected as one of the defensive captains for my team," said Moriarty. "The north squad that I played with in the game was a great group of kids, and the coaches related well with all of the players."

Although Cazeau didn't see any playing time, being named to the team was certainly well deserved.

"Chris Cazeau played offensive and defensive tackle for us this past season," said Barry. "He is a very talented player, who will certainly have a wonderful career at Curry this fall."

Both Moriarty and Cazeau played very well last fall for Wilmington High School, helping the Wildcats finish with an 8-3 overall record. Surely, they will both go on to have new experiences with the game of football in college, and will only become better.

"Moriarty and Cazeau are both very good players," said Barry. "They were both major players for us this past fall, and they will both go on to have great careers in college."

Above all, Cazeau and Moriarty took advantage of Thursday night's Agganis game. They were both able to play strongly in the face of pressure, as they have both done throughout their high school careers. Despite having lost the game, Wilmington is still proud of all their accomplishments. Both boys represented Wilmington well.

"I will always remember my time playing for Wilmington and all the friends I have made," added Moriarty. "This past season at Wilmington High was my greatest ever."

WHS Fall Sports Tryout dates

Wildcat Tennis Camp, August 9-13

The fourth annual Wildcat Tennis Clinic will run from August 9-13 from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the Boutwell School tennis courts. The Clinic is a developmental and support program for those currently playing or for those who intend to play high school tennis. Supported by the Friends of Wilmington Tennis, the Clinic's Head Instructor is Matt

Hackett, former Wildcat Boys' Tennis Coach and current Director of Belmont Hill School Tennis Camp. Current Wildcat varsity players will assist Matt with instruction and demonstrations. Cost for the Clinic is $150 per player, and includes a tee shirt, guaranteed fun, and fundamental to advanced instruction. Participants entering grades six through nine are invited to register. Space is limited to 12 participants, and fills up fast.

For registration information, please contact the Friends of Wilmington Tennis at friendsWT@verizon.net, or 978.658.8987. Check out the Friends' website at www.wilmingtontennis.org for more information.

Under 18 Softball team takes two wins

The Wilmington U18 softball team picked up two wins this week with victories over the Lunenburg Comets and the Chelmsford Blue Crush. On Tuesday the Wildcats travelled to Lunenburg, where they came away with a 15-7 win. Kim Woods led the offense with three RBI and two hits, including a two-run homerun in the sixth inning. Katie MacDougall and Casey Murray also had two hits. Danielle Reynolds had a big two-run single in the first inning to set the pace and had three RBI over all. Caitlin McDonough had the other Wilmington hit. Murray, Woods, McDonough and Lisa Diorio all scored three runs a piece.

Nicki Lunt and Charlene Sullivan combined on the mound to strike out five and force the Comets to strand 12 base runners. With bases loaded in the first inning, Lunt got the final hitter to ground back to the mound and threw her out. The Comets had three base runners on again in the third with one out and Lunt struck out two to end the threat. Alyssa Cappuccio, at shortstop, made two good plays in the final inning with unassisted force-outs to end the game. Lauren Sullivan played very well in her debut at first base.

On Thursday, the Wildcats returned to the West Middle School field for a rematch with the Chelmsford Blue Crush. Earlier this season, Chelmsford came into Wilmington and left with a victory. The Wildcats wanted this one badly and they battled back and forth in an evenly played game before coming out with a 5-4 victory. Charlene Sullivan had another strong start on the mound, striking out seven and allowing no walks for the second time this season. In 26 innings pitched this season, Sullivan has only walked two, while striking out 17.

Caitlin McDonough stopped Chelmsford's running game cold with several strong throws from behind the plate. In the first inning, she fired to Danielle Reynolds at second on a steal attempt. The runner, knowing she had been beat, tried to get back to first base but Reynolds threw to Nicki Lunt and got the out. In the third inning, another runner decided to challenge McDonough's arm and paid the price as McDonough's pinpoint throw allowed shortstop Jackie Kennedy, to put on the tag for the out. No other Chelmsford base runners attempted to steal for the remainder of the game.

Sullivan and McDonough had some defensive help from Katie MacDougall at third base, who made several good stops on tough shots down the line. Kennedy also had a good game at shortstop with three assists and catching a hard line shot in the seventh. Offensively the Wildcats had ten hits; two each from Kennedy, McDonough and Kim Woods. Other hits came off the bats of MacDougall, Lunt, Reynolds and Casey Murray.

With Wilmington up 5-4 in the seventh, Chelmsford's lead off batter reached on an error. The next batter bunted safely to get the tying and go-ahead runs on with no out. Sullivan then got a strikeout for the first out. The lineout to Kennedy at shortstop for out number two put Chelmsford's clean up hitter up with two outs and she laced a hard grounder to third base. MacDougall fielded it perfectly and fired to Lunt at firstbase to end the game.

The win puts Wilmington at 4-2 in this early part of the season. This week, the Wildcats host Beverly on Tuesday and Lunenburg on Thursday.

Wilmington Northeast Baseball

Coming off a tough stretch after the Fourth of July holiday, the Wilmington Northeast baseball team was reeling from three straight losses, but solid pitching and timely hitting has helped to right the ship this past week.

Facing off against Greater Lowell Tech in Tyngsboro on Tuesday, Mike Ciampa took the hill already with a 1-0 lead courtesy of three straight singles to start the game off the bats of Vinny Scifo, Ciampa, and Sean Hanley.

That lead would hold up until the fourth inning when the Tech leadoff hitter doubled and came home on a single by the next hitter, but a nifty double play and a ground out would end the threat.

The Wildcats were not faring any better against the Tech starter reaching base only once over the next three frames, but would score single runs in each of the last three innings on hits by Cole Pepper, Mike Gracia, and Dan Pendenza.

Hanley came on to pitch the seventh inning, giving up a run on a hit batter, a wild pitch, and a single, but Wilmington took the game 4-2.

On Thursday, Wilmington was home against Woburn, and while the Wilmington bats were coming to life, the story was the pitching. Starter Chris Frissore and Mike Gracia combined to spin a one run, six hit gem while striking out nine Woburn batters.

The highlight came in the fifth when Woburn opened the inning by loading the bases. Gracia had come on in relief and proceeded to strike out the side and leave them loaded to end the inning.

For the offense, Gracia, Ciampa and Zach Copp all went two for four, with Frissore, Puffer, Dave Mello, and Ty Huebner all contributing hits in the 6-1 Wilmington victory.

Sunday looked like it was going to be a long night for starter Dave Mello as the first three batters ripped hits, scoring two runs before the first out. Mello, however, settled down and retired the next three batters in order to get out of the first inning.

The bats chose a great night to come alive as Wilmington scored four times in the bottom of the first. With one out, Ciampa stroked a single up the middle, which was his first of four hits on the night.

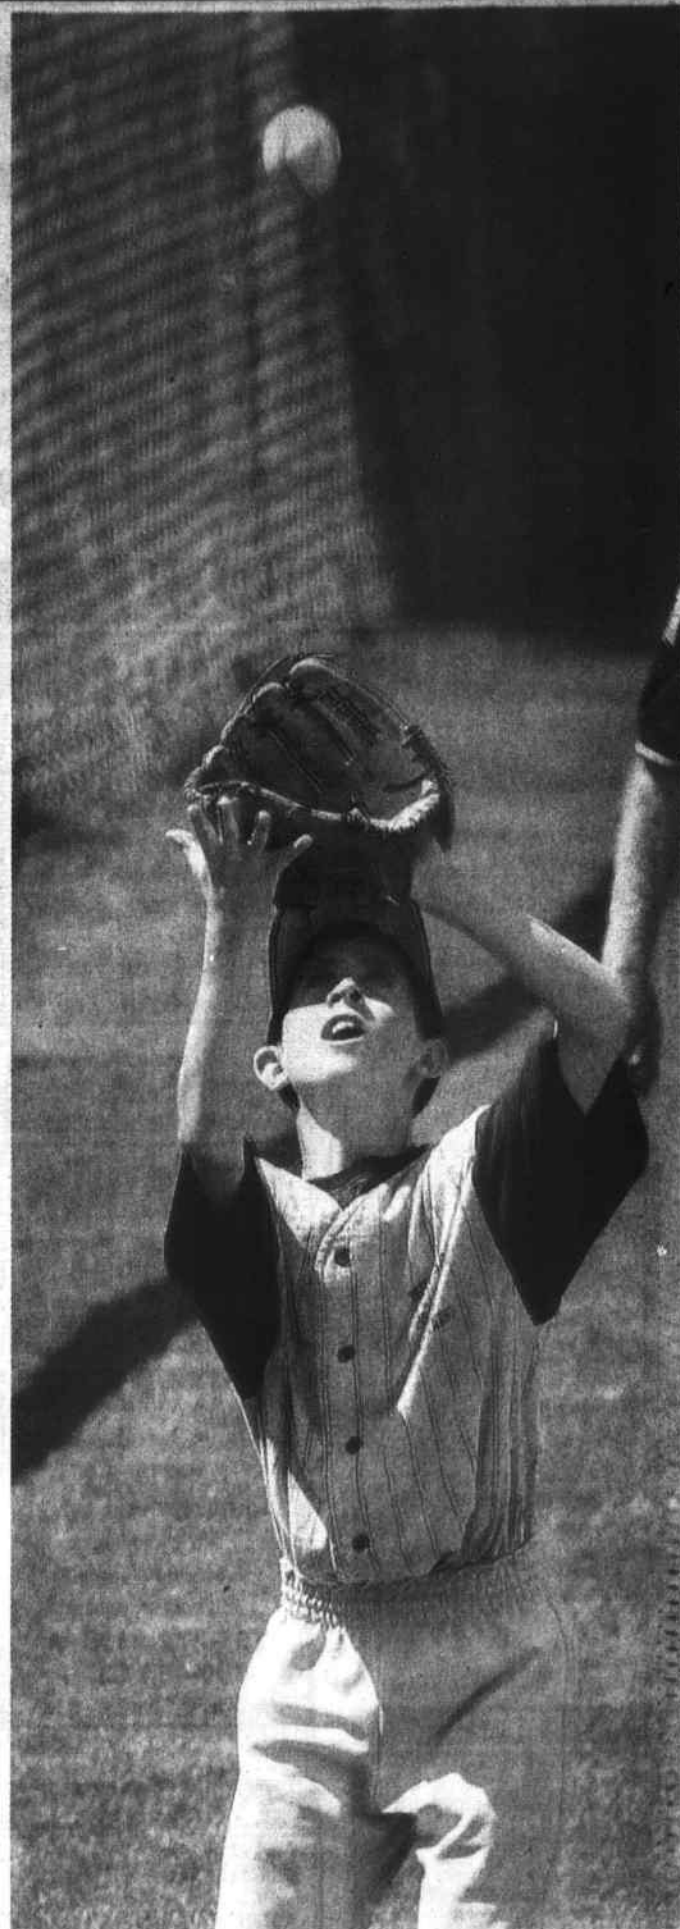

After Hanley walked, Frissore shot one past the dive of the third baseman, scoring Ciampa. Gracia then hit his first of two doubles, scoring both runners and taking third on the throw. He came home on an infield out by Mello.

Wilmington scored five more times in the third inning on singles by Copp, Ciampa, and Hanley. Frissore had a sacrifice fly, and Gracia smacked a double, a bomb that hit the base of the fence in right center field. Huebner and Dan Pothier also contributed with singles.

Mello meanwhile was in control, keeping the Lynnfield batters off balance, and allowing only two more runs over the six innings.

Wilmington would strike again in the fifth with three more runs by virtue of a walk, an error, and an infield hit by Huebner, and a long double off the bat of Phil Lentini.

Copp took the mound in the seventh inning to shake out the cobwebs, and Lynnfield would put two more on the board, but the outcome was never in doubt with Wilmington victorious, 12-6.

Wilmington's Jack Bertolami makes a nice catch in foul territory for the out early in the 11-year-old all-star game against Wakefield. (Photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

Reading Police Chief James Cormier honored by ESGR

By PAUL FEELY

When soldiers in the National Guard head off to serve their country, family and friends aren't the only ones left behind.

Each of these heroes also has a job, and the employers who ensure they will have a job when they return home play an important part in making sure they have the ability to defend our country.

That's where the Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) Field Committees come in. They help promote awareness of the difficulties these soldiers face, as well as make sure their employers receive the recognition they deserve for providing support for these men and women.

Today, approximately 4,500 volunteers, ranging from business executives, senior government representatives, educators and military personnel, serve on local ESGR Field Committees. With help and resources from the National ESGR Headquarters in Arlington, Virginia, the 56 ESGR Field Committees conduct employer support programs, including informational briefings, mediation and recognition of employers whose policies support or encourage participation in the National Guard and Reserve.

Recently Dr. Thomas Mulvaney, representing the ESGR, was at the Reading Police Department to present the Patriotic Employer Award to Chief James Cormier.

Chief Cormier was chosen to receive the award following a recommendation made by Reading Officer Christine Amendola. Officer Amendola is a Police Officer for the Town of Reading and is currently deployed to Afghanistan in her capacity as a member of the Massachusetts Army National Guard.

Officer Michael Lee is also a Police Officer for the Town of Reading and is also currently deployed to Afghanistan in his capacity as a member of the Massachusetts Army National Guard.

Chief James W. Cormier receives the Patriotic Employer Award from Dr. Thomas Mulvaney representing the ESGR. Also present were Reading Town Manager Peter I. Hechenbleikner and Chief Cormier's daughter Lauren and son Steven.

"I am honored and flattered to have been chosen for this award," said Chief Cormier. "The Town of Reading Police Department takes great pride in having two of our officers serving our country and we wish them good luck and a safe and speedy return to us."

"It's employers like the Reading Police and Chief Cormier who make it possible for these soldiers to serve their country," said Mulvaney. "Through programs like this we are able to give them the recognition they deserve."

The award is part of the "Pro Patria Award" program, which is presented annually by each ESGR Committee to the one employer in their state or territory who has provided the most exceptional support of our national defense through leadership practices and personnel policies that support their employees who serve in the National Guard and Reserve.

AJ Martini Construction of Winchester was an award recipient in 2008.

By explaining the missions of the National Guard and Reserve and by increasing public awareness of the role of the employer, ESGR works to develop a dialogue among employers, the ESGR Committees, and local National Guard and Reserve unit commanders and service members. ESGR is the lead advocate within the Department of Defense for Reserve Component employers.

Despite the tremendous strides gained by ESGR, an enormous task remains. The U.S. Census Bureau estimates the total employer population of the U.S. at 7.4 million. The estimated number of employers who employ members of the Guard and Reserve is 125,000. The estimated number of individual workplaces where Guardsmen and Reservists work is approximately 235,000. These numbers are in a constant state of flux due to Guard and Reserve recruitment, labor mobility and a dynamic business environment.

The task for ESGR is to work through a nationwide network of volunteers and a small, full-time support staff to inform and educate hundreds of thousands of Reserve Component members and their employers regarding their rights and responsibilities, best practices, and to develop and maintain relationships with employers.

The ESGR was created with a vision to "develop and promote a culture in which all American employers support and value the military service of their employees with ESGR as the principal advocate within the Department of Defense."

"It's a real service these employers provide," said Mulvaney. "The soldiers, knowing their jobs are waiting for them when they return home, that's one less thing on their minds when they are called to serve. That's a real consideration in this economy."

The focus of ESGR is four-fold:

1. Promote an understanding of Guard and Reserve service.

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"Predators" a sci-fi thriller

"PREDATORS" is the latest sequel to the 1987 sci-fi classic starring Arnold Schwarzenegger. Laurence Fishburne (above) plays a man who has eluded the Predators, an alien race of elite hunters, for years on their home world, who encounters a new group of humans who have been brought in to provide a fresh challenge.

"PREDATORS"
GRADE: ***

"Predators" is the latest in a long-running science fiction movie series that focuses on an alien race that hunts for pleasure - and quickly answers the question 'Can Adrien Brody make it in Hollywood as an action star?' The answer is yes.

The plot features a bunch of killers who don't know what's going on when they suddenly find themselves literally falling from the sky. The first is Royce (Brody), who soon is followed by a troupe that includes a swordsman, a mercenary, a doctor (Topher Grace) and a violent offender (Walton Goggins, who played Shane in the television series 'The Shield').

They make their way through the jungle, arguing and speculating about their fate together, until they come to the realization that the sun has not moved in all the hours they've been wherever they are. When they see beyond the trees in the jungle, they realize they no longer are on earth.

The first "Predator" film was released in 1987, and it starred Arnold Schwarzenegger as one of the characters in the Amazon who came upon these deadly aliens. It was a high-quality stalk 'n' slash, and so is this one. You simply never know who's going to get it next.

And while you might stake bets on who is going to survive, you might be surprised at the outcome, too. The action literally begins the second the movie opens, and it doesn't stop until the end (in fact, it doesn't even stop there, as things are perfectly set up for a sequel or two).

Once the characters are fully introduced and fleshed out, alien life forms greet them immediately, unlike those from the previous films. They're a sort of Predator version of dogs or wolves, with incredible tusks and amazing strength. They're just the opening act.

The real Predators begin appearing, laying out traps and playing off human emotions. Each of these people, of course, has a specialty, and the trick they need to learn is to use their skills together if they want to survive.

Braga, Grace and Goggins are especially good in the supporting roles. The four actors are memorable enough to make one care who lives or dies in this movie where guessing who will meet a gruesome end next is almost impossible. Predators may not be the instant classic Predator was, but as an action-centric sci-fi thriller, it more than measures up.

"THE TWILIGHT
SAGA: ECLIPSE"
GRADE: **

In 'The Twilight Saga: Eclipse', directed by David Slade from a screenplay written by Melissa Rosenberg and starring Kristen Stewart, Robert Pattinson and Taylor Lautner, Bella (Stewart) once again finds herself surrounded by danger as Seattle is ravaged by a string of mysterious killings and a malicious vampire continues her quest for revenge.

In the midst of it all, she is forced to choose between her love for Edward (Pattinson) and her friendship with Jacob (Lautner) - knowing that her decision has the potential to ignite the ageless struggle between vampire and werewolf. With her graduation quickly approaching, Bella is confronted with the most important decision of her life.

"Eclipse" is the lightest of the three "Twilight" movies released so far, but will still keep fans of the book series it is based on very happy.

New director David Slade has injected a sense of humor into the film. The script is sharper than her work on the first couple of "Twilight" films, and Slade - whose vampire thriller, "40 Days of Night" was tough and witty - has encouraged the actors to see the humor in the film's goofy love triangle and in such moments as the awkwardly funny scene where Bella and her father discuss the birds and the bees.

But the reason "Eclipse" is the better of the three "Twilight" movies is that it has the best story. Bella is committed to Edward the vampire and, as a result, she's contemplating the possibility of being turned into a bloodsucker herself and of saying goodbye to all the things she likes about being human.

This film is more about Bella making her own choices in life (or the after-life), and not her two would-be suitors making them for her.

"KNIGHT AND DAY"
GRADE: **

Tom Cruise and Cameron Diaz look to recapture some of their former box office success in director James Mangold's action comedy 'Knight and Day'.

The film, much of which was shot in Boston, is almost void of any scene that could actually happen in the real world - but that doesn't mean it isn't entertaining as a summer film.

The plot is simple (at least the parts you can discuss without spoiling some of the secrets): Diaz gets on a plane where Cruise is a passenger. From then on, her life spins out of control, forever changed thanks to their chance encounter.

Cruise and Diaz both give sparkling, star-quality performances and bring the material to life, despite its total lack of believability.

Mangold keeps the pace moving and the mystery was confounding enough to hold my interest until it's revealed halfway through.

The question of who Tom is and why he's acting this way is presented in a captivating way, and his devil-may-care attitude, sparkling smile in the face of certain destruction, and Diaz's performance that make this film a very worthwhile afternoon or night at the movies.

This is a lot of fun, but leave your brain at home. Escape for a couple of hours, before it's time to get back to your personal reality.

"TOY STORY 3"
GRADE: ****

The toys are back in town, and they've been gone too long. Welcome back, Woody and Buzz.

'Toy Story 3' welcomes Woody (voice of Tom Hanks), Buzz (voice of Tim Allen) and the whole gang back to the big screen as Andy prepares to depart for college and his loyal toys find themselves in... daycare!

These untamed tots with their sticky little fingers do not play nice, so it's all for one and one for all as plans for the great escape get underway. A few new faces—some plastic, some plush—join the adventure, including Barbie's counterpart Ken (voice of Michael Keaton), a thespian hedgehog named Mr. Pricklepants (voice of Timothy Dalton) and a pink, strawberry-scented teddy bear called Lots-o'-Huggin' Bear (voice of Ned Beatty).

The film is directed by Lee Unkrich (co-director of "Toy Story 2" and "Finding Nemo"), produced by Pixar veteran Darla K. Anderson ("Cars," "Monsters, Inc."), and written by Academy Award-winning screenwriter Michael Arndt ("Little Miss Sunshine").

"Toy Story 3" is easily one of the best movies of the year and an early safe bet for the Best Animated Picture Academy Award.

ITALIAN-AMERICAN SONGS THIS THURSDAY

In keeping with a very popular tradition, the Stoneham Chamber of Commerce's next act in its Summer Concert series will bring a little Italy to the Stoneham Common at 7 p.m.

This year's performers are the Melodia Duo with Italo DeMasi and Angelo Coviello. The duo will entertain with their accordion-led repertoire of familiar, favorite Italian-American songs.

This Thursday's concert is sponsored by The Appian Club of Stoneham, which is an organization that actively promotes the Italian culture with a variety of events, classes and community support such as this concert.

July 29 the Goodtime Stringband performs and on August 5 Special Edition Big Band. All concerts begin at 7 p.m. and end at dusk.

For more information on the Summer Concert Series visit www.stonehamchamber.org.

HISTORY OF PLUM ISLAND JULY 26

Through a power point presentation by Mike Bulger, take a trip back into history and learn about the beginnings of Plum Island in the late 1800s and early 1900s: when people first arrived, the Plum Island Hotel, the early cottages, the new roads and bridges, the lighthouses, and some of the people who first invested in the small barrier island.

During the past three years Mike has collected hundreds of photos and newspaper articles about the history of Plum Island: Come join for an enjoyable evening.

This informative and free presentation will take place at Parker River National Wildlife Refuge's auditorium, located in the visitor center at 6 Plum Island Turnpike at 7 p.m.

Coffee and light refreshments will be available for purchase starting at 6:30 p.m.

ORIGINAL ART SOUGHT FOR APPLE FESTIVAL

Once again the North Reading Historical and Antiquarian Society is looking for original art for the benefit Art Drawing and Silent Art Auction at its 16th Annual Apple Festival.

The Rev. Daniel Putnam house and barn have been repaired and renovated by the Historical Society, most recently replacing cellar stairs and the repair of the fireplace chimney.

Participation by the public in the art drawing or silent auction makes these renovations possible. Artists who would care to donate to a good cause may write to P.O. Box 354, North Reading, Ma. 01864 or call 978-857-6138 or email apple_nreadinghistory@yahoo.com for more information and an application.

The date for the event is Saturday, September 25 (rain date Sept. 26) on the Putnam House grounds, 27 Bow Street from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The event includes an apple pie contest, Historical Society merchandise, local entertainment, children's games and pony rides. Plus crafts, apple pie and ice cream, vendors booths, food and a chance to tour the Putnam house and barn.

POKER RUN ON AUGUST 7

Ladies of Harley of the MVHOG are hosting a Poker Run on Saturday, August 7. Registration is from 8:30 to 10:30 at Kelly's House of HD, 1 Chelmsford Road North Billerica. $15 per person.

Enjoy a scenic ride through Massachusetts and New Hampshire. Good old fashioned BBQ. Music provided by DJ Blackie, 50/50 raffles.

Money raised is to benefit Merrimack Valley Food Bank and Camp Fatima. The destination is the American Legion Post 100, 8 Windham Road, Pelham, NH 03076. Will be there until 4 p.m.

Past winners sought Devlin Memorial Scholarship to be honored

Though he passed away many years ago, Dr. Thomas P. Devlin's memory still lives on in surrounding communities as well as Stoneham.

The Devlin Scholarship Fund has been created in his memory.

In recognition of Dr. Devlin's service the scholarship fund will be honored on its 50th anniversary on Wednesday, October 6th at the Bear Hill Country Club and officials are seeking previous scholarship winners to attend the event. A list of 2010 winners will be announced this month and will be published at a later date.

Today, the fund's assets exceed $110,000 and 290 scholarships have been granted, totaling more than $215,000. Trustees look for any number things in its recipients: Fiscal needs, scholastic standing and general character. Applicants must reside in Melrose, North Reading, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, Wilmington, Winchester or Woburn in order to be eligible to apply. Hopes for the fund's future include raising more money so more scholarships can be distributed.

The Dr. Thomas P. and Edwina A. Devlin Medical Scholarship Fund holds many memories and lives on through the support of Devlin's family and friends.

KEEPING APPOINTMENTS, KEEPING THE FAITH, AND KEEPING UP

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

POSITIVE NEGATIVE IN WINCHESTER

"Selectmen don't veto Town Manager appointments": quite the headline in the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

Although the Winchester Board of Selectmen "took umbrage with three appointments made by then Town Manager Mel Kleckner," the Board has approved the following appointments: John Surabian to Fire Captain, Anthony Rolli to Heavy Motor Equipment Operator (Water & Sewer), and Jason Doyle to Laborer (Highway Maintenance Department).

When the board accepted the appointments of both Rolli and Doyle, Selectman Brian O'Connor - uncomfortable with the previous Town Manager's appointments "when he won't be here" - still had reservations about appointing Surabian to Fire Captain.

New Acting Town Manager Mary Ellen Lannon, notes the "Chronicle," defended the pro-keep saying that?"

A G-rated film that appeals to both adults and children alike is a rare breed and exactly what summertime family movies are all about.

The bond that has developed amongst Andy's toys, and the attachment Andy himself has to them, is poignant and heartfelt - touching to anyone who remembers when it was finally say goodbye to childhood toys.

And "Toy Story 3" ends at the top of its game, wrapping the three pictures into one tremendous trilogy in an exceptional way.

motion telling the board she spoke with Fire Chief John Nash and they interviewed candidates together. "I feel it's sufficient," she explained. "We need to empower the department heads."

Even after discussion, "O'Connor felt the chief didn't explain enough," notes the Chronicle. "He said empowering the department heads works, except when they 'act inappropriately.'"

O'Connor voted against the motion to veto the promotion of Surabian to Fire Captain. He was the only one, as the motion to veto failed.

Selectman Thomas Howley explained his reason for approving the promotion, stating, "We should give deference to the Town Manager in regards to appointments. It's not appropriate for the board to intervene."...

TOTAL POSITIVE IN BURLINGTON

"The Board of Selectmen voted recently to have the town join the Community Covenant program which provides support for local members of the military and their families," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Army Capt. Glenn Cardozo, who is in charge of recruiting in the area, was before the board to discuss the program. This is a nationwide effort and Burlington is one of the first communities in Massachusetts to take part."

Cardozo said he has attended D.A.R.E. Day and was planning to get involved with other community events to promote the program. He said he is working with the Burlington Breakfast Rotary Club in their efforts to support the military.

The selectmen voted 4-0, Walter Zenkin was absent, to issue a proclamation lauding the Community Covenant program."

KEEPING UP WITH READING & STONEHAM IN WAKEFIELD

Well, you could look at it that way.

"The Wakefield Board of Selectmen voted to accept the recommendation of the Advisory Board of Public Works regarding the water and sewer rates for Fiscal Year 2011," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Department of Public Works Director Richard Stinson and Town Engineer Michael Collins presented the figures to the Board and were prepared to answer any questions."

Stinson said, "The water rate of $4.88 provides for an average annual water bill after the discount is taken of $527.04 or $131.76 per quarter. In regards to the sewer rate, the rate of $9.44 provides for an annual sewer bill after the discount is taken of $1019.52 or $254.88 per quarter."

"The combined average annual water and sewer bill is $1546.56 or $386.64 per quarter. This represents a total increase of $36.72 per year for an average water and sewer bill or an increase of $9.18 per quarter."

"It was noted that Wakefield's prices were far lower than Reading and Melrose and also lower than Stoneham. The Board thanked Stinson and his staff for their efforts..."

•MIDDLESEX EAST WEEKLY TRIVIA:

Who did the Boston Celtics play in their first regular season game ever in the FleetCenter? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

Several Austin Preparatory School students from Reading were recently honored for their talent and efforts on spring sports teams at Austin's Spring Athletics Recognition Event.

The following athletes from READING received awards:

ZACH MUNDY, SENIOR BOYS LACROSSE, MOST IMPROVED PLAYER

NICHOLAS DELL'ANNO, SENIOR BASEBALL, MOST IMPROVED PLAYER, CCL ALL-STAR

BRYAN WRIGHT, SENIOR BOYS TENNIS, MOST VALUABLE PLAYER, CCL ALL-STAR

On August 7 and 8, 28 residents from Reading will ride in the 31st annual Pan-Massachusetts Challenge (PMC), the nation's pioneer charity bike-a-thon that raises more money than any other athletic fundraising event in the country. They will be among the 5,000 cyclists from 36 states and eight countries who will ride with the collective goal of raising $31 million to support lifesaving adult and pediatric cancer care and research through Dana-Farber Cancer Institute's Jimmy Fund.

While known for its signature two-day, 190-mile route, the PMC is made up of 10 different cycling routes through 46 Massachusetts communities. The various PMC routes, with varying fundraising requirements, mean anyone with a bike and determination can participate.

PMC riders range in age from 13 to 86 years and are from all walks of life, from police officers to stay-at-home mothers to corporate CEOs. The PMC is for seasoned athletes and cycling newcomers who are unified by the single goal of raising money to fight cancer. The PMC is all about heart and soul. Doctors ride along side their patients; grandparents bike with their grandchildren; and nearly everyone rides on behalf of loved ones lost to, or battling, cancer. More than 300 riders are cancer survivors or current patients.

During PMC weekend, individual cyclists become part of one family. Thousands of supporters who cheer along the route is one reason cyclists come to Massachusetts each August to ride in the PMC. The bike-a-thon is fully supported with 3,000 volunteers who help at the water stops by serving food and water, assist with mechanical and medical issues, and luggage transportation. Lodging is also provided.

"The PMC is more than just a bike ride," says Billy Starr, PMC founder and executive director. "It is a community of people with one unifying mission: raising money for cancer research."

No other single athletic event raises or contributes more money to charity than the PMC. Since 1980, the PMC has raised $270 million for cancer research and care at Dana-Farber through its Jimmy Fund. The PMC gives 100 percent of every rider-raised dollar directly to the Jimmy Fund, a rate of fundraising that is nearly unequaled within the $3 billion athletic fundraising event industry. The PMC generates more than 50 percent of the Jimmy Fund's annual revenue and is its largest single contributor. PMC funding is considered "seed money;" it allows researchers and doctors to finance innovative experiments and conduct initial trials to qualify for federal funding.

The PMC is presented by the Red Sox Foundation and New Balance Foundation. To become a virtual rider, or make a financial contribution to a rider from your town, visit www.pmc.org, or call (800) WE-CYCLE. Checks can be made payable to PMC, 77 Fourth Ave., Needham, Mass. 02494.

Need some help with this week's question? It's not the Lakers.

The Reading-North Reading Chamber of Commerce is looking for the fastest running families, business teams and individuals in town to crown as the winners of its first annual Run For Your Supper 5K Family Fun Run on July 21, 2010, at 6:15 p.m. at Ipswich River Park. The 3.1 mile race has separate categories and prizes, not only for individuals and business teams, but also for the family who enters and wins the race. Family size is limited to four runners per family.

Looking for a way to involve families in Reading and North Reading, the Chamber changed its format after 15 years to a less challenging route, hoping to attract more family participation.

"Our whole focus is to make this a family-oriented event," said John Murphy, Chamber 1st Vice President and Chairman of the committee. "For the $35 entry fee a family can come to Ipswich River Park, run the race, have dinner and enjoy the concert and festivities." Proceeds from the race are put back into the community when the Chamber hosts the annual Holiday Lighting Festivals in Reading and North Reading in November.

A business team category has also been added to this year's race with an entry cost of $10 per runner, limited to five runners.

"We are very excited to have teams representing Creative Arts, the Horseshoe Grille, Reading Cooperative Bank, The Savings Bank, Vitality Wellness Spa, and the Burbank YMCA and look forward to more businesses enjoying the fun competition," said Executive Director Irene Collins. "It's not too late to register, so join in on the fun."

The Run for Your Supper event is held in conjunction with the North Reading Parks and Recreation's Summer BBQ Concert series. All runners will receive a coupon for a free BBQ meal, along with a T-shirt and other race goodies. All entry fees are affordable at $10 for students, $15 for adults and $35 for a family of four. Registration forms and the course map are available on the Chamber's web site www.readingreadingchamber.org or visit www.coolrunning.com for on line registration. For complete details or to become a sponsor of the race contact

Executive Director Irene Collins at 781-944-8824 or 978-664-5060 or email rnrcamber@aol.com.

The Reading-North Reading Chamber of Commerce was formed in January 2000, providing members with networking, educational and promotional opportunities.

Dedicated to its members' success, the Chamber encourages participation in Chamber programs and events. For further information or to become a member, contact Irene Collins.

Friends of Reading Recreation (FORR) is holding its 4th Annual 5K at Memorial Park (Harrison Avenue) in Reading, MA on Thursday July 22nd at 6:30pm. Registration is online at www.FORR01867.org. Your support will help FORR continue to offer low and no cost events.

Pre-registration is $15 and Race Day Registration is $20. First 150 registrants will get a FREE commemorative T-Shirt with Age Group winners receiving commemorative pint mugs. FORR is adding Prize Money this year to the First & Second Place Male & Female. Additionally, the Boston Sports Club of Lynnfield is providing three (3) month memberships to be raffled off as well as one (1) month memberships to the 50th, 100th, and 150th place runners. There will be multiple age groups including an age group for under 14 years old. Professional timing will be provided by Yankee Timing. Registration and check in starts at 5:00pm.

In addition, FORR will have a climbing wall on hand for those watching the race. Another annual tradition will be pre and post race massages by Vitality Wellness Spa and post-race slush provided by Gregory's and pizza provided by Louisa's Pizza World. Pearl Vision will also be raffling off some items.

Chris Soucy of North Reading sum it best from the 2009 race, "The race attracted some really fast runners, yet maintained the feeling that anyone was welcome, which showed with the huge turnout. I liked that it mixed the competitive nature with the fun side of the sport. You could push yourself running the race then enjoy the scenic finish around the field, get a free massage, free slush and joke around with friends afterwards. Overall the race well organized, well priced, and was a great time. I recommend it to anyone."

Further information and course map can be found on our website: www.FORR01867.org (click on the 5K link under UPCOMING EVENTS).

2. Enlist support of employers in development of human resource policies and practices that support and encourage employee participation in Guard and Reserve programs.

3. Disseminate information to improve knowledge of, and voluntary compliance with, the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA) among Reserve component leaders, members, and their employers.

4. Sustain willingness of employers to support their employees called to military service for the Global War on Terrorism over potentially longer periods of time and greater frequency.

To that end, the ESGR Statement of Support Program seeks to inform and educate employers about their rights and responsibilities towards their employees who serve in the National Guard and Reserve, and to also recognize and reward those employers who go "over and above" the requirements of the law.

A Statement of Support signing employer readily supports the following language:

"We fully recognize, honor and enforce the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA)."

Our managers and supervisors will have the tools they need to effectively manage those employees who serve in the Guard and Reserve.

We will continually recognize and support our country's service members and their families in peace, in crises and in war."

Middlesex East Real Estate

North Reading From S-8

Master Bedroom suite, complete with cathedral ceilings, skylights, and separate home office with a wall of closets that could be a sitting area or perhaps even a baby's nursery, plus a bath with a fully tiled shower. There are two additional bedrooms with hardwood floors and a third full bath, all with new windows that complete the right wing of the home. This hallway could easily close off for another suite.

From the receiving area at the front door, there is an open, elegant and gracious stairway with wood flooring to a finished lower level that shines with endless potential. This area is great for summer pool parties or snowy winter nights by the woodstove watching the snow accumulate looking out the sliders. Complete with a full, second, 40 ft. kitchen that offers a 6 burner gas grill and wall oven. It leads to an outside recreation area with a brick patio. And inside just beyond the dining area, which is currently furnished with removable booths that are great for entertaining, is a fire placed sitting room with wood stove and additional storage areas. There is a half bath with laundry and sewing areas or crafts room with cedar lined closets, to complete this portion of the lower level.

Utilities included are a 6 zone forced hot water by gas heating system, 60 gallon holding "Booster" tank, 200 Amp. Electric with circuit breakers and a B-dry basement waterproofing system that comes with a lifetime guarantee. Beyond the visible storage shed, next to the workshop a small garage offers storage for lawn equipment, motorcycle, boat, bikes, etc. The pool comes with a custom made cover for the winter months.

This home is only available as the current owners are retiring and relocating to a warmer climate. Did we say that the snow shovels stay with the house? All of this is currently listed for $748,500 with Century 21 Spindler & O'Neil, in North Reading, and can be seen by calling the listing Realtor, David O'Neil at 978-664-2100 x27.

Real EstateThis Week's Sampler: North Reading*Versatile floor plan with endless possibilities!

This week's Sampler is a 4000+ s. f. brick front ranch with attached 2 car garage, on beautiful acre lot in the Hillview Country Club area of North Reading, complete with in ground pool and abutting a Town owned 5 acre parcel.

Designed with large or extended families in mind, this pristine home boasts two complete Master Bedroom Suites, each with adjacent sitting areas plus a 3rd distinctive living area on the lower level offering endless possibilities.

The love and attention that has gone into this expansive 80 foot ranch is evident at first sight. From the columned front porch with granite flooring to then the recently raised roof, which now incorporates the architectural integrity of the two rear additions, and finally the brand new front door that says "Welcome".

As you enter the bright and spacious living room, you recognize the crown moldings, gleaming hardwood and ceramic tile floors, interior columns and neutral décor as one that flows with ease from room to room. Crown moldings, hardwood and tiles and quality crafted railings are proof of the attention to detail that the owners have taken in caring for this magnificent manse.

The front living room and rear family room, each 25 feet long, maintain their own identity, but when combined, offer a sizeable space for a family holiday gatherings. The adjacent dining room and the larger fire placed family room could easily be reversed to allow for a king's banquet.

Nearby, the sky lit Maple and Granite kitchen, just updated in 2006, offers moveable island, stainless steel appliances, built-ins and a breakfast nook. Just beyond the kitchen area is the first of 2 master suites. The first suite consists of a bedroom with walkin closet, full bath, sitting area and optional space for office, den, sunroom, etc. There is a balcony plus sunroom overlooking the in ground pool. It offers a second side entry from the west side of the garage that would be ideal for in-laws or even a home-office setup. There is even an interior staircase to a private workshop on the lower level with double cedar closets and half bath. This area would be an ideal hobby, room, playroom or even an additional home office.

At the other end of the house, to the right of the living room, there is a second
